Depressed Area Bill Veto Upheld

Dems View Measure As Election Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some Democrats claimed a new election campaign issue today in President Eisenhower's successful veto of a bill to aid depressed areas.

The Senate voted Tuesday to sustain Eisenhower's May 13 veto of the 251-million-dollar economic assistance measure.

The vote was 45 to override and 39 against. The 45 votes were 11 shy of the two-thirds majority needed to pass a bill over a veto. Forty Democrats and five Republicans voted to override. Twenty-five Republicans and 14 Democrats supported Eisenhower. The Democrats included 12 Southern senators and Sen. Frank J. Lausche of Ohio and J. Allen Frear Jr. of Delaware.

Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill.) said Democrats will make an election issue of the bill's defeat as did Sen. Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa.).

All three senatorial contenders for the Democratic presidential nomination—Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Stuart Symington of Missouri—voted to override.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Republican leader, questioned whether the Democrats sincerely wanted a bill passed.

The President said the measure was too broad and wasteful, and sent it back with the admonition that there is time yet to work out an acceptable substitute. The administration is backing a 180-million-dollar measure, but both sides have expressed doubt a new bill will be passed this year.

The Republicans who voted to override the veto were Sen. Kenneth B. Keating and Jacob K. Javits of New York, John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky, Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania and Margaret Chase Smith of Maine.

Hanoverton Plans Memorial Service

The Rev. Alonzo Wise, pastor of the Hanoverton Christian Church, will be guest speaker at the Hanoverton Memorial Day program scheduled for Sunday at 2 p. m. in the Grove Hill Cemetery.

The program will be preceded by a parade from the Town Hall to the cemetery beginning at 1:30 p. m. The parade will be led by the United Local High School Band. Members of the Lepine-Rush American Legion Post and of the Legion Ladies' Auxiliary are asked to participate in the parade.

Also on the program at the cemetery will be Jane Heinbuck, a freshman at United Local School, who will recite the Gettysburg Address.

Democrats In Florida Pick Bryant

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Farris Bryant, Harvard-trained Ocala attorney who urged a firm hand in dealing with Florida's integration problems, has won the Democratic nomination for governor.

The 45-year-old former House speaker captured 55 of the state's 67 counties in a smashing triumph over State Sen. Doyle E. Carlton Jr., who had pledged to continue the moderate course of retiring Gov. Leroy Collins in dealing with racial problems.

Bryant has to face Republican nominee George Petersen of Fort Lauderdale in November, but tantamount to election in Florida.

Selection of Bryant means the state is headed toward a more conservative form of government during the next four years. Bryant pledged no new taxes and trimming of 25 million dollars a year from the state's spending program.

Bryant, a militant advocate of states' rights, declared Collins was out of step with Floridians on the racial issue. He said Florida needed a governor who had training, experience and the mind to combat efforts to integrate schools, lunch counters and beaches.

While promising to preserve segregation by all "honorable, legal and constitutional means," Bryant said he would never close the public schools.

Carlton, who ran with Collins' active support, conceded defeat shortly before 10 p. m.

Collins said at Tallahassee he was disappointed by the defeat of Carlton but he pledged his full cooperation to Bryant.

Dial 7-3431 When You Need Firemen

Fire Chief Clarence Wright today reminded Salem residents that for speedy attention in the case of fire, calls should be made directly to the fire department.

He said that during the last couple of weeks, fire calls have been going first to the police department or some other source before getting to firemen.

The fire department phone number is ED 7-3431.

determine the feasibility of using a series of such satellites to patrol the earth for enemy missiles. These orbiting space stations will use infra-red sensing devices to detect the heat trail of a hostile missile the instant it is fired.

The alarm would be radioed to the United States, which then would have about 30 minutes to activate defense and retaliatory measures.

The Midas test vehicle Tuesday was launched into a near-circular orbit from this missile base. Air Force officials reported its path through space ranged from an apogee of 322 miles to a perigee of 292.1 miles. They said its radio and sensors were functioning perfectly and that it programmed as planned so its instrument-laden nose always is pointed at the earth.

The mammoth satellite, 22 feet long and 5 feet in diameter, probably will test its sensing equipment for the first time on huge sodium flares set to ignite at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif. The first flare will be fired within a few days, at a time when the satellite passes overhead.

Midas also will try to pick up rocket launchings at Cape Canaveral and Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., during its expected useful life of three to four weeks. It probably will remain in orbit about three years.

The satellite is following a course that covers all territory 28 degrees north and south of the equator. It does not pass over the Soviet Union.

However, by the end of the year, an advanced Midas and the first Samos reconnaissance satellite are expected to be spinning in polar orbits that will take them over the Soviet Union.

By 1962, networks of six or eight of these "spies in the sky" are slated to provide complete and constant scanning of the earth's entire surface. Samos will photograph troop installations and movements, war plants, air fields and missile bases.

Leftists In Japan Continue Demonstrations

Hope To Smash Pact With U.S., Force Ike To Cancel Visit

TOKYO (AP) — Thousands of young leftists snake-danced around Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi's home tonight in the sixth straight day of demonstrations against the Japanese leader and the military ties with the United States which he espouses.

Estimates of the throng ranged from 5,000 to 8,000.

Arms locked four abreast, the youths—members of labor unions, the Socialist party and left-wing student groups—stampeded like cattle through the narrow lanes of the usually quiet residential district.

Youths Shout at Police

"Go away watchdog!" they shouted to 80 police who massed in front of the flimsy wooden gate of Kishi's home. "Down with war criminal Kishi! Crush the U.S.-Japan security pact!"

Their aim was to bring down the Kishi government, defeat the U.S.-Japan security pact in the Senate and force President Eisenhower to cancel his visit to Japan next month.

Etsuro Shiina, chief Cabinet secretary, said today the government has no intention of asking Eisenhower to cancel his visit. The demonstrators flaunted labor union flags and carried candle-lit paper lanterns and placards. Many were girls.

Ichiro Kono, a top member of Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi's ruling Liberal-Democratic party, warned "there is a revolutionary element undercurrent" in the anti-government campaign, which has produced daily demonstrations since the lower house of Parliament ratified the treaty last Friday.

Directed At Socialists

Chief Justice Kotaro Tanaka told the annual meeting of jurists that organized interests under the influence of foreign powers are trying to overthrow democracy in Japan by revolution. His remarks appeared directed chiefly at the Socialists, leading the opposition to the security pact.

The Tokyo police force said it would send 7,000 men to guard the Diet building and Kishi's official residence, another frequent target of the antitreaty demonstrators.

Police said 300 of their number have been injured in the recent clashes, mainly with students.

The Socialists and the Communist bloc objected to the treaty because it gives American forces bases in Japan for another 10 years, negates their demands for a neutral foreign policy, and ties Japan firmly to the West.

The Socialists, with considerable public backing, claim the treaty lays Japan open to attack should the United States become involved in a war with Red China.

Kishi has rejected Socialist demands that he resign and dissolve Parliament.

Western Opposition Dooms Soviet U.N. Bid

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — Western opposition in the U.N. Security Council today doomed a Soviet resolution asking for condemnation of U.S. spy plane flights.

Diplomats waited to see if the two neutral nations on the council—Ceylon and Tunisia—would line up with the Western majority or would merely abstain on the vote expected Thursday.

Ceylon, Tunisia To Speak

Both Ceylon and Tunisia were to speak this afternoon along with U.S.-allied Ecuador in the third session of the council debate on the Soviet charges against the United States.

Even before the council began debate, diplomats and observers at the U.N. had been certain the Soviet resolution would not get the seven votes necessary for adoption. Tuesday's session of the debate bore this out.

Only Communist Poland and the Soviet Union were committed to vote for the proposal. Argentina and Nationalist China said they would vote no. France said she could not give her assent to the resolution. Britain and Italy did not announce their voting positions, but they were known to be planning to cast negative votes.

Prompted By Spy Flights

The resolution was prompted by the downing of an American U2 photo-reconnaissance plane May 1 near Sverdlovsk, 1,400 miles inside the Soviet Union, and subsequent information from Washington that the United States had been making such spy flights over Soviet territory for four years.

The Soviets called on the council to condemn "incursions by United States aircraft into the territory of other states" and to ask the U.S. government to prevent their recurrence.

In the debate Tuesday Jerzy Michalowski of Poland said U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, in defending the U2 flight, had enunciated a "Herter doctrine" that the United States had the right to send spy planes over the Soviet Union for security reasons.

He said the 1928 Havana and 1944 Chicago aviation conventions, both ratified by the United States, banned unauthorized flights over foreign countries but that Herter sought "to replace international law by the law of the jungle."

Self-Wounded Slayer of 2 Is Captured

COOPERSTOWN, Pa. (AP)—A former mental patient sought in the slaying of his wife and neighbor was captured late Tuesday as he sat propped against a tree trunk, wounded by his own shotgun.

A search party came across Lloyd E. Shuffstall, 51, in a wooded area about a mile from his home near this northwestern Pennsylvania hamlet.

The lower part of Shuffstall's chin was shot off. Weakened by loss of blood, he offered no resistance. His capture ended an intensive 17-hour manhunt.

State police Capt. John Chirny quoted the unemployed foundry worker as saying he shot himself shortly after the slaying of his wife, Vera Rose, 47, mother of 10, and Harold DuPont, 43-year-old machinist.

DuPont was ambushed and shot on a dirt road a mile from the Shuffstall home. Mrs. Shuffstall was killed in the bedroom of her home. Both were shot with a 30-30 rifle.

State police said a son, Derald, 24, told them DuPont had been "keeping company" with Mrs. Shuffstall some time ago.

Shuffstall, released from a mental institution only a week ago, was treated at a hospital and lodged in Venango County jail at Franklin.

Living Costs Reach Record In April

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs rose four-tenths of one percent in April to another record high.

The rise was the largest for any month since last June.

In reporting the increase today, the Labor Department said it was largely due to a raise in food prices. Poor spring growing conditions were a factor in the upward movement of food costs.

Schedules Report On Summit Collapse

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower reports to the American people tonight on the collapse of the summit conference and its effect on the policies of this and other free world nations.

He speaks out in the midst of political, diplomatic and legislative repercussions over the use of a U.S. spy plane brought down in the Soviet Union just before the summit blowup.

The Kremlin was urged by the White House to let the Soviet people listen to broadcasts on the President's 30-minute talk. James C. Hagerty, making the appeal through American newsmen, said "the Russian people, as well as the free people of the world have a right to hear it."

The President's address, from the White House at 7 p. m. EST will be carried live by CBS and ABC TV networks, and all major radio networks. It will be rebroadcast at 9 p. m. by NBC-TV.

The Voice of America arranged to broadcast the presidential message overseas in English and 38 other languages, including Russian.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee called Secretary of State Christian A. Herter for closed-door testimony Friday, starting a major inquiry into the downing of the U2 spy plane and the chain of events which followed it.

The hearings are to continue into next week, with testimony by Director Allen W. Dulles of the Central Intelligence Agency, Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr., Gen. Nathan Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Agency.

Two other Senate probes were planned on a lesser scale—one by a special committee which keep regular check on the Central Intelligence Agency and the other by a subcommittee studying government policy machinery.

East Liverpool Former Police Lose Appeal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court today held two former East Liverpool policemen convicted of burglary cannot escape punishment simply because their trial was delayed.

The high court sent back to the Columbiana County Court of Appeals the cases of Ira Cunningham and Jerry Raimond. The Appellate Court had discharged both men.

Cunningham and Raimond were indicted in April, 1956. Normally, under the law, a defendant is entitled to dismissal of charges unless he is brought to trial within three terms of court. The former policemen, however, waited until September 1958 term of court before they were brought to trial and convicted.

The Supreme Court held, however, that a common Pleas Court entry at the end of the April 1956 term continued the men's cases to the September term of court, along with other undisposed of cases. "Carries a presumption that the ground for continuing these cases was one of those specified" in the law.

The high court ordered the Appellate Court to proceed with the cases and pass on other charges of error not previously passed upon.

Middleton Friends To Start Work On New Meetinghouse

The congregation of Middleton Friends have decided to build a new meeting house on a new site on the west side of Middleton, on property now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Sidwell, who are donating the land for the site.

Excavation for the basement will be started this week by Donald Adams.

The present white frame structure in the center of Middleton is a familiar landmark, having been erected in the 1850s. It was the third meeting house to be built in the area and the only one of the original three remaining.

The Friends in the Middleton district in eastern Columbiana County were organized in 1803. Familiar names of the congregation include Heald, Mendenhall, Morland, Hannah, Battey, Blackburn, Kirk and Edgerton. The congregation numbers around 277 in 1826. At present the enrollment is over 100.

Two Million Homeless After Quakes, Tides

Volcanoes Erupting; Property Damage Beyond Reckoning

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Death and devastation mounted in southern Chile today in the wake of continuing earthquakes and tidal waves. Erupting volcanoes added to the horror.

Authorities put the toll at nearly 2,000 dead or missing and perhaps two million without homes. Official sources predicted the total would rise considerably when full reports were in from areas isolated by the communication breakdown.

Hundreds of Millions

The government had not even begun reckoning the property damage caused by the earth convulsions, but the Interior Ministry said it would run to many hundreds of millions of dollars. Reconstruction will take many years, it said.

Tidal waves spawned by the quakes were taking the heaviest toll. One surging wall of water carried 630 of the 800 residents of Quelen to death Sunday, the Interior Ministry said. Another wave killed more than 100 at Aleta Tuesday.

An 18-foot crest broke over the seaside resort of Mejun Tuesday, drowning 120 persons. Other reports told of whole villages swept away by waves up to 24 feet high. At least 500 persons were missing in three southern provinces.

Two Chilean freighters, the Santiago and El Canelo, went down in mountainous seas off Puerto Corral. All aboard were believed lost.

New Quakes Spread Terror

New quakes spread terror, rocking the mountainous southern provinces. Landslides crashed into the Pacific at Maulin, a town of 1,500 about 600 miles south of Santiago.

At least five volcanoes were brought to life by the earth seizures and a new one was reported born.

Four volcanoes—Osorno, Caulle, Carral and Casablanca—were erupting in Osorno province about 500 miles south of Santiago, officials said. Communities in the area were ordered evacuated.

A pilot reported that 7,350-foot Puyehue, near Osorno, also was beehiving fire. In Cautin province to the north a new volcano began spitting flame and smoke.

One hundred eighty-three were killed in Japan and the Western Pacific by tidal waves caused by the Chilean quake. In Hilo, Hawaii, 38 were killed.

Stamp Exhibit At Columbiana Planned

The first joint stamp club exhibition of the East Palestine and Columbiana Stamp Clubs is to be conducted this weekend in Joshua Dixon School in Columbiana.

Presented under the name, "Col pex," the exhibition will be held from noon till 10 p. m. on Saturday and from noon to 5 p. m. on Sunday.

Reports indicate that at least 75 frames will be exhibited at the show from both Junior and Senior Clubs. Prizes are to be awarded in six divisions of collecting in both groups.

Judges of the exhibit will be Arno Kment of Canfield, Dr. R. V. C. Carr of Youngstown, William Howell of Warren. Some prize winning exhibits of other shows will be shown in a non-competitive court of honor.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I've never written a letter to a newspaper or to a magazine in my life but after reading your column today (about parents being paid back for giving their children a college education) I just had to write to you.

In the past two years we have seen two sons and a daughter get college diplomas. They all worked part time and we paid the rest.

In the last six years Dad and I have had no vacations. Our car is just about ready for the junk heap. The furniture in our house is falling apart. But who cares? None of this means a thing compared to knowing that our children are given a first-class education.

Pay us back? They've paid us back — a thousand times, by being the kind of people we want them to be. We have two other children who will enter college soon. God willing, we'll see them through, too. — PROUD OF OUR KIDS.

Heartbroken Parents

Dear Ann: The letter on whether or not children owe their parents for a college education brought back some painful memories.

Our son always went with the rich kids in school, although we had very little. My husband owned a small tailor shop and I helped him with the sewing at night.

When our son told us he wanted to go to a big Eastern school and it would cost us $3,000 a year it sounded like a million. He said he couldn't work his way through because it was a hard school and he needed all his time and energy for studying.

Well, Pa and I scraped together our savings, we made a loan, I took in two roomers and our son got his college education. I saved in a secret account for our train fare so when he was graduated we could see him get his diploma. But we never made that trip. Do you know why? He never invited us.

Pa was heartbroken but he never said anything. Along about August I asked our son why and he said, "You would have felt out of place with all those swells."

He married a fancy girl he met in the East and we don't see them very often although they live right in this town. Maybe we raised him wrong but we did the best we could. I hope he does better with his son than we did with ours. — UNHAPPY PARENTS.

The Professor Speaks

Dear Ann: I'm a professor in a Midwestern college and was deeply interested in the column which raised the question of whether children "owe" their parents for sacrifices made to send them to college.

For almost 20 years I've watched students come and go. Do you know who, almost without exception, are the outstanding students?

Those who are on partial or complete scholarships and must work to stay in school. They seem to have a better comprehension of what college education means and are willing to make sacrifices to get it.

Do you know who the poorest students are — the ones who wash out and barely make it by the skin of their teeth?

The students whose parents send them with swanky clothes, hifi machines, electric typewriters, automobiles and lots of spending money. These students don't have to do anything but concentrate on their work but they don't. They are too busy with their hi-fis, automobiles and spending money. — THE OWL.

Dems Pick Collins As Convention Chief

NEW YORK (AP)—Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler accuses the Eisenhower administration of being too soft toward the Soviet Union the past two years.

"I think we have been playing footsie with the Russians under this administration," he said Tuesday.

He said he was not accusing the administration of a deliberate policy of appeasement, but rather of an unwitting reliance on the Soviets.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty, asked for comment on Butler's attack, said in Washington: "Tell him I laughed and said Mr. Butler is the best Democratic national chairman the Republicans ever had."

Butler made his charge at a news conference shortly after Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida was selected as permanent chairman of the Democratic National Convention.

Sen. Frank Church of Idaho was picked for keynote speaker at the convention opening July 11 in Los Angeles.

The two men were chosen at a meeting of the 14-member committee on arrangements. The choices are technically subject to ratification by the delegates at the convention.

CHARGED IN SON'S DEATH

CLEVELAND (AP)—Robert L. Koslasky, 27, of East Cleveland, was charged Tuesday with manslaughter in the death of one of his infant twin sons. The month-old boy, Mathew, died Sunday. An autopsy showed brain injuries caused his death.

The accused man said the child's head accidentally struck the headboard of a bed as Koslasky was handing the boy to Mrs. Koslasky. Police said Mrs. Koslasky told them, when questioned, that her husband had dashed the son against the headboard in anger because the child had been crying.

TAKEN TO REFORMATORY

LISBON — Mrs. Albert Homan, 27, of Cleveland was taken today by Deputy Roandl Gause and his wife to the Women's Reformatory at Marysville, to begin serving a one to 20 year sentence.

She was sentenced Thursday by Judge Raymond S. Buzzard for abduction which she received two years ago.

Mrs. Homan, mother of six children, was cited recently for contributing to the delinquency of a 13-year-old Cleveland boy. Her children are being cared for by her parents who reside south of Lisbon.

She was sentenced Thursday by Judge Raymond S. Buzzard for abduction which she received two years ago.

Conduct Unbecoming In a Leader

Adlai Stevenson's attempt to make political hay out of Khrushchev's sabotage of the summit conference was as shocking as it was totally unbecoming of the man whom the Democratic party has selected twice for its presidential candidate.

Mr. Stevenson said, at a $100-a-plate fundraising dinner at Chicago, that "there is no question about national unity in a time of crisis." Then he proceeded to reverse his field and lambast President Eisenhower's handling of foreign affairs.

It is true that many Americans wish there had been a frank announcement immediately on the U2 spy plane, rather than a short-lived attempt to cover up.

But Mr. Stevenson was off base when he accused the administration of making successful negotiations with the Soviet Union impossible.

THE FACT IS, President Eisenhower's insistence that the United States must not give away its own and other peoples' freedoms is the reason for Khrushchev's grand display of temper. The only way this nation can negotiate successfully with Khrushchev is to give him what he wants and get nothing in return.

Mr. Stevenson has scant ground to stand on when he insinuates he would have been able to "negotiate" successfully with Khrushchev.

It was Mr. Stevenson, himself who, just four years ago, made an 11th-hour proposal just before the 1956 presidential election in which he was defeated for a second time that may have helped to swell the size of his defeat. He proposed a unilateral cessation of atomic tests by the United States, with no assurance that the Soviet Union would to likewise. One leading Democrat described it as a haymaker swung wildly by a prize-fighter who knew he was beaten.

Mr. Stevenson evidently has forgotten that it was a Democratic president who was so trustful of Stalin that this nation sold Chiang Kai-shek down the river and lost China as a friend and ally.

He evidently has forgotten it was a Democratic president who fell into the booby trap of a Communist-surrounded Berlin and a divided Germany which is the main source of present world tension.

He evidently has forgotten it was a Democratic administration which, by public statement, told the world this country was not interested in Korea and thus extended an open invitation for the Communists to attack there in 1950.

WHAT MAKES HIM think the American people would trust him to lead this nation's foreign policy in view of this kind of record and his apparent failure to learn any lesson from it?

Other responsible Democratic leaders — notably Sen. Kennedy and Sen. Johnson — were quick to proclaim support for the President in his hour of trial at Paris.

Those proclamations of support were much more statesmanlike than Mr. Stevenson's ill-timed political attack.

They constituted the kind of patriotic support Republican leaders gave to Democratic presidents when this nation became involved in World War I, World War II and the Korean War.

The Whole World Likes Ike

President Eisenhower was reminded in Portugal and again when he returned to Washington that "liking Ike" is still one of the favorite moods of mankind. He is an international symbol of likeability.

The Russians would have liked him if he had been able to visit them. The French liked him more than ever when Khrushchev tried to make him crawl over the U2 incident, then refused to confer with him.

When he came home, he found his own countrymen had been drawn together by their sympathy for him while he was undergoing a harsh experience abroad. The Japanese like Ike. The Koreans like Ike. Everybody likes Ike.

He has become the personification of good will in our time. There has been nothing like it before. No head of a state in any period of history has approached the popularity of Dwight D. Eisenhower. Even Herbert Hoover, who had been known throughout the world as a benefactor in time of famine, was able to take into the presidency the kind of popularity that has kept President Eisenhower high in popular affection ever since he became the top commander in the European theater of war in 1943.

The psychology that underlies this popularity is not hard to understand. Most men and women try to live by a rule of good will. Their sympathy is drawn to any leader whose good will is palpable. President Eisenhower's good will is so palpable it shines in his smile, his words, his gestures and his acts.

People need desperately to believe that his way of life can prevail. If it cannot prevail, there is no place in the world for anything but the sour cynicism that Premier Khrushchev stirred up so energetically at Paris.

Cynics in America are found of repeating an expression supposed to have been coined by a hard-bitten ballplayer when an associate known throughout baseball as a "nice guy" was fired from a managership: "Nice guys never win."

President Eisenhower is the living refutation of that cynical observation. "Nice guys can't lose." They have too many friends.

The millions who like Ike will still be liking him after all the eye-gougers and arm-twisters have passed into the demonology of history.

The Violence of Language

A British language scholar has come up with what experts say is a new theory about how spoken language got started in the dim ages of man's beginning.

The first talk, he says, probably consisted exclusively of action verbs, such as "Cut!" "Strike!" "Break!" "Crush!" "Kill!" Since primitive man's life was mostly one of survival action, that kind of talk was all that was necessary.

This could help to explain why the world was shocked last week when Nikita Khrushchev used the diplomatic setting of a summit conference to attack President Eisenhower with bitter words.

We are civilized now. Man long ago learned to deaden the violent impact of his action verbs by surrounding them with passive verbiage. With enough mollifying talk, he could save his own skin either by talking his enemy into friendship or confusing him into defenselessness. This is certainly better than risking a fractured skull.

The finest flowering of civilization has long been attributed to the language of the diplomats. These are the people who can tell each other off in polite terms, avoiding the blood-thirstier action verbs that might lead to bloodthirsty action.

Thus, when Khrushchev lashed out at Mr. Eisenhower, the world was shocked because, in effect, he stripped away centuries of civilization to revert to the primitive action verbs.

The shock turned to sympathy for the President because civilized people understood the predicament he was in: He could not find diplomatic words equal to the occasion and he was not willing to resort to the crude, primitive terms employed by his attacker.

The violence of Khrushchev's action verbs, in the eyes of a sophisticated world, outweighed the violence of sending a U2 flying across Russia.

This also helps to explain why East and West find it so hard these days to work out their problems.

They just don't talk the same language.

Ill-Advised Criticism

Democrats Encourage Belief U.S. Is Divided

Many of the Democrats in Congress, as well as the Democratic Advisory Council, are trying to make a campaign issue out of the charge that President Eisenhower gave Soviet Premier Khrushchev the "opportunity" to blow up the summit conference. But the issue may boomed against them.

For, as the "New York Times" pointed out in its editorial on Monday, Mr. Khrushchev at Paris "used the U2 incident as a pretext" and admitted in his Berlin speech a few days later that his primary reason was "the firm Western stand on Germany and Berlin indicated in what he termed the 'sharply and arrogantly provocative' speeches of Secretary Herter, Under Secretary Dillon and Vice President Nixon."

On the same page appeared also a Paris dispatch from C. L. Sulzberger, the eminent commentator on world affairs, who writes that "Moscow has never objected to unmanned reconnaissance by our Tiro photographic satellite" and that, as General De Gaulle tried to argue with the Soviet Premier, "the new Soviet 'space ship' was crossing France 18 times a day" even while Khrushchev was claiming in Paris about the U2 affair.

Mr. Sulzberger reveals also that Russia has known for four years about the U2 flights and that the Soviets "knew at least since June 1959 that in West Germany we had put together, from U2 pictures, a topographic map of Russia."

THE IMPLICATION of the Democratic Advisory Council's statement that, if the plane episode hadn't occurred, all would have been sweetness and light at the Paris summit conference is hard to believe.

Even more baffling is the reasoning of Adlai Stevenson, who, in his Chicago political speech the other day, said that, "when Mr. Khrushchev gave the President an out by suggesting that he was not responsible for ordering the flight, the President proudly asserted that he was responsible."

The record of what the President actually said does not bear out any charge that Mr. Eisenhower said he was responsible for ordering this particular flight.

What the President did say was that he was responsible for the general policy to "gather, in every feasible way, the information required to protect the United States and the free world against surprise attacks." This included the U2 reconnaissance flights, authorized four years ago.

Little attention, moreover, has been paid to the text of the message sent by the President in the last few days to the heads of governments in various allied countries. Referring to the plane incident, he wrote:

"I need not assure you that this activity was not intentionally provocative and certainly not aggressive. It constituted one phase of an intelligence system made necessary for defense against surprise attacks on the part of a nation which boasts of its capability to buy' us all, and one which stubbornly maintains the most rigid secrecy in all its activities.

"At the least, this incident, while regrettable in the extreme, could not by any stretch of the imagination be of such magnitude as to justify the polemics and the abuse which Mr. Khrushchev saw fit to heap upon the United States. By so distorting and exaggerating this incident, he of course put an end, for the time being, to any hopes of progress."

NOTWITHSTANDING the published words of the President of the United States in his message to our allies, the Democratic Advisory Council said three days later that "the integrity of the word of the United States has been put into doubt," and that "the shortcomings" of the administration "tend to weaken the confidence of our allies not only in our strength but also in the wisdom and competence of our government."

The Democratic Advisory Council statement has been endorsed by Adlai Stevenson, former President Truman and Senators Symington and Kennedy.

But House Speaker Sam Rayburn and the Democratic majority Johnson, have risen above partisanship to stand by the President. They concur in the idea of a formal inquiry to get all the facts but they are not blaming their own government at a critical time in the conduct of our foreign relations.

A full discussion will, of course, inform the American people on matters they may not have noted deeply before.

Thus, when Adlai Stevenson says Khrushchev gave Mr. Eisenhower an "out" by affording him a chance to say the flight of Francis Powers was "unauthorized," what would the same Democrats have said about Mr. Eisenhower when a congressional inquiry subsequently revealed that he had actually given a general authorization for such flights four years earlier?

Wouldn't the Democrats have had some basis then for crying out that the President had not told the truth and that "the integrity of the word of the United States has been put into doubt"?

MR. EISENHOWER preferred to tell the truth to the whole world. For this he is being pilloried and, instead of rallying behind their government, many of the Democrats, including the advisory council, are encouraging Mr. Khrushchev to believe that the United States is divided and that the President, to whom the conduct of foreign relations is specifically delegated by the Constitution, does not speak today for the government of the United States.

This is hardly the way to win elections.

It could turn out that tenacious attempts to play politics with the summit conference fiasco and to blame Mr. Eisenhower for something Mr. Khrushchev did, will put the Democrats on the defensive when they get on the stump. Patriotic feeling in America runs deeper than political partisanship.

New York Herald Tribune

Women's Best Friend

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — The dog, once man's best friend, today has become women's best friend, says Stephen Baker.

"In the cities the dog often takes the place of the old-fashioned marriage arranger. A dog is the best husband-catcher a single girl can find," he says.

Baker, a 6-foot-4 art director for a major advertising firm here, is author of "How to Live With a Neurotic Dog." He is convinced that if America has 25 million dogs, "at least 25 million of them are neurotic—and that's a conservative estimate."

The reason is that living a dog's life in a civilized world is bound to make anybody neurotic.

But he believes the best Leap Year investment a girl in search of matrimony can make is to buy a dog—and take it for a walk.

"If they meet a bachelor out walking his dog, the twosome at once becomes a foursome. It's not a pickup. It's just one dog greeting another dog," he pointed out.

But in using a canine Cupid to help her track down a soulmate, Baker emphasized it is important that a girl pick a pooch that best suits her own personality.

"A girl who is tall, elegant and aloof should choose a Russian wolfhound or Afghan hound, which gives the same appearance," Baker said.

"If she is friendly and outgoing, she should stroll with a French poodle. It is the friendliest of dogs."

Baker has owned dogs ranging from a Pekinese to a Newfoundland.

"No girl should walk with a cocker spaniel, a bulldog or a police dog," he said.

"The spaniel is the most neurotic of dog, and raises the suspicion she is a complete neurotic herself."

"The bulldog is aggressive and masculine and makes her look that way. A shy man will cross the street rather than meet a girl with a police dog. He is afraid this is the kind of girl who would check his every movement if he married her."

What is the best combination of all?

"It is when a girl with a mongrel meets a man walking a mutt," said Baker decisively. "Each then realizes the other is broad-minded, nonconformist and not interested in trying to keep up with the Joneses."

"They should have a perfect marriage."

Explains Jr. Baseball Program

The Salem Junior Baseball season is underway, a happy moment for a lot of players, parents, and spectators, but to many boys it may be an unhappy one because all teams must be cut within the next few days.

This cutting creates a hardship on all managers and coaches, because it is hard for them to decide which boy they would like to replace and which one they would like to keep. They don't want to hurt any one boy's feelings, but it is my belief that their judgment should be accepted as to the ability of the young player.

In most cases, the player that is to be replaced will understand, but the question is, will the parents understand?

It is hard for a parent to realize that his son is not as perfect as he thinks he is. In many cases the parents do not come out to watch the boy play. They assume that he has attained the ability to play baseball in a matter of a few days or weeks. So when the time comes for the boy to return to the baseball schools for further instruction I can see why some parents feel that he is being neglected, but that is not true.

When he is sent back for instruction he will attain the ability to play in the summer leagues and also in the coming years. In the baseball school he will receive private instructions so that he can overcome whatever weakness he has.

May I further explain to all parents and players that when a boy is released, that does not mean that he is not the property of the team that he had been assigned to. In the 1961 season he will be given an opportunity to play on that team through the draft system, thus assuring the boy that he is on a team.

May I also explain the purpose of the baseball schools. Each boy is given private instruction by various instructors. He is graded as to his ability on all phases and elements of baseball. As soon as they have attained enough instructions they will be placed on teams that will take part in the morning leagues which will begin the middle of June, as soon as Bible School is over. These boys will play regularly-scheduled games in the mornings, under supervision. Trophies will be given to the winners of each one of these leagues.

These boys will not be forgotten, under any circumstances. They will be given a chance if they

Japan and the United States are joined in a partnership based on mutual trust, mutual respect and full co-operation. We are both dedicated to the task of helping to build a better world where there will be peace and justice for all.

—President Eisenhower on 100th anniversary of U.S.-Japanese relations.

Matter of Fact

Plains Indians made a game out of warfare. Careful rules and a special scoring system were used. The idea was to score points by exposing themselves to danger and getting away with it, whether they killed the enemy or not. The highest honor went to those who touched an enemy with their hands, few points if they touched him with their bow. Naturally, a lot of braves got killed in this fashion.

will only take this opportunity. It is strictly up to the boy, as well as the parents.

To the parents may I say be patient with your boy regardless if he is on a team or attending the baseball clinic. Do not try to rush him into perfection. Please leave that to the instructors and managers and coaches. Instead of criticizing the young man on some of his faults, try to help him correct them. If he makes a mistake in any of his playing in a game or instructions, please do not criticize him. Leave that up to the instructor or the manager. The manager knows best what is good for the boy. If the boy makes a bad play and you are a spectator, do not criticize him. Build him up, because he needs it at that moment. Making a mistake is enough punishment. Please help him attain the qualities of a gentleman by being a good sport as well as a good winner and an extra good loser.

I ask all parents and spectators as well as players to respect the judgment of the managers and coaches and the judgment and decisions of the umpires. We must remember that each one of these managers and coaches donate their services.

In reference to the sale of membership tickets, may I explain why each boy is requested to sell memberships as well as belong to the Salem Junior Baseball League Association. This program has grown from 30 boys to approximately 700. The expenses have increased tremendously.

The program for 1959 cost us approximately $4,000 and of that money the sponsors donated approximately $2,400. This amount of money donated by the sponsors does not cover the complete expense. Therefore, we have asked the boys to sell memberships in the leagues to help raise the funds to overcome a deficit which we have had in the last few years.

President, Salem Junior Baseball Leagues

Council Replies to Editorial

The News' editorial of May 19th concerning City Council and the Mayor made some assumptions which are not supported by facts.

First of all, City Council has no intention of passing or not passing any ordinance because there may be a chance to make a trade with someone. Each piece of legislation will be regarded on its own merits with regard to the welfare of the city. The fact that council is, or is not, given a report is going to have nothing to do with any action taken.

Concerning the weight ordinance council met as a committee of the whole May 19 to discuss this with the idea of enacting legislation for correction. This was only one of a number of meetings which have been held on the subject. Floyd McKee had furnished Council with a copy of the ordinance used by the city of Wooster.

When the city solicitor did not appear at this meeting it was agreed by everyone, including the mayor, that there was no use talking about the matter and discussion was postponed until legal aid and advice were available.

It seems strange that the mayor, or only one week later, would accuse Council of delaying action. Had the mayor followed suggestions made to him several times by Council this delay would not have occurred.

It can also be said that there are enough ordinances on the books at the present time to enable the mayor to get rid of the city's truck violations very quickly, if he is serious about the matter.

There is always the chance that legislation of the type in question will be used for nothing but money-raising, and this would harm Salem more than it would help. No one in Salem has any idea that such an ordinance would eliminate the need for additional operating money, no matter how well enforced.

In conclusion we feel that editorials on local matters are important and necessary, but that they should be based on solid facts, rather than on assumptions. Salem City Council will neither delay nor hasten any action just to get a trade but will give serious consideration to any problem which needs it.

Salem City Council

The Social Notebook

A MUSICAL program was presented by Mrs. Marie Fawcett at the meeting of the Junior Music Club Monday evening at the home of Sarah Fitch of Jennings Ave.

Robert Dodge conducted the business meeting.

Six marimba selections were presented by Mrs. Fawcett, with piano accompaniment by Mrs. W. J. Hunston. Before playing, she explained how the instrument is constructed and how the tones are produced. Her selections were "Largo," "The Old Refrain," "Polichinelle," "Jalousie," "Indian Love Call" and "Xylophonia."

Refreshments were served by Miss Fitch and her mother, Mrs. Alfred Fitch.

TWELVE MEMBERS of the Salem Women of the Moose attended the Academy of Friendship Day Sunday, sponsored by the Alliance Moose Auxiliary.

The Salem group had charge of the opening ceremony and the balloting. Mrs. Elmer Early of Salem was guest speaker. Others taking part in the program was: Address of welcome, Mrs. Robert Votaw of Alliance; response, Mrs. Betty Graham of Mogadore; and chairman of session, Mrs. Helen Zeller of Alliance.

Chapters from Alliance, Salem, Minerva and Mogadore partici-gated. Thirty Academy of Friendship members were honored. Visiting senior regents and speakers were presented gifts.

A social hour followed, with prizes awarded to Mrs. Early, Mrs. Anna Cannon, Mrs. Clara Wilson, Mrs. Arthur Stark and Mrs. Paul Stallsmith.

Coming events for the local chapter include: Anniversary banquet this evening at Goshen Grange; election of officers, June 1; and annual birthday party June 22.

EIGHT LOCAL residents were named to offices at the recent meeting of the Sixth district of Veterans of Foreign Wars in Canton.

Those named to Auxiliary posts are: Mrs. Robert Talbot, president; Mrs. Glenn Hoobler, secretary; Miss Janie Royle, Mrs. Dorsey Brink, Mrs. Gerald Cameron, Mrs. Pat Colian, color bearers.

VFW appointments went to G. M. Sutherland, chaplain, and Dorsey Brink, chief of staff.

A GIFT from htr secret pal was received by Mrs. Huber Weingart, when she was hostess to Our Night Out Club members recently at her RD 4, Salem home.

Game prizes went to Mrs. Werner Weingart, Mrs. DeVer Wein-gart, Mrs. William Hum, Mrs. DeHoff and Mrs. Edna Weingart.

Mrs. James Moracco was awarded a prize for being the "best speller" in the group, and a special prize was won by Mrs. Hum. The June meeting will be at Mrs. Hum's home in New Springfield.

THE BIRTHDAY anniversary of Mrs. Harold Harris was celebrated at the recent meeting of the Skat-R Club at the home of Mrs. Emmor Ackelson of 480 Fair Ave.

Mrs. William Stoult and Mrs. William Steffel were guests, with game prizes going to Mrs. Leonard Perkins, Mrs. Sam Lockhart, Mrs. Harold Harris and Mrs. Stoult.

Gifts were presented to Mrs. Harris after which lunch was served.

Mrs. Harris of Park St. will entertain the group June 16.

TWO GUESTS, the Rev. William Snowball and Russell Moore, were welcomed when the Fellowship Class of the First Methodist Church met recently in the N. Union Ave. home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ward.

Mr. Ward presided at the business session and then showed slides of a trip he took during the Easter season to the Holy Land and Iran.

Refreshments were served from a buffet table decorated in the spring theme by the Wards and their associate hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Albright. Mrs. Harry Loria poured.

The June 15 meeting will be at the Salem Country Club with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Loria and Mrs. and Mrs. Harold Smith as hosts at a coverdsh supper for members and their families.

FOUR NEW members were greeted at the monthly dinner meeting of the Salem and Business Professional Women's Club Monday evening at the Smucker House.

They were Mrs. Miles Brooks, Mrs. Grace DeFavero, Mrs. Cleo Stirling and Miss Barbara Brian. Recognition of the new members was conducted by Miss Ruth Cosgrove.

Mrs. William Park presided at the business meeting when reports were given on the B&PW state convention in Dayton recently. Those attending were Mrs. Elise Murdock, Mrs. Phillip Bush, Mrs. Willis Peet, Mrs. Brooks and Miss Eileen Weaver.

The membership committee served as hostesses, with Mrs. Frank Earley as chairman and Mrs. Charles Crawford, co-chairman. The tables were decorated in a patriotic theme. Red, white and blue carnations formed the centerpiece, with miniature flags as favors.

The installation dinner is planned for June, with the date place to be announced.

TWENTY THREE members attended the regular meeting of the Gold Star Auxiliary Monday night at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Home.

Miss Janie Royle presided when election and reinstatement was held for Mrs. Albert Kent.

Mrs. James Rhodes Sr. reported poppy day will be held Friday and Saturday.

Mrs. Charles Dimko was elected conductress, replacing Mrs. Dianne Watkins, who resigned.

Members were reminded of the Memorial Day dinner at the Post home following the parade. All Auxiliary members are to bring table service.

Miss Royle, Mrs. Earlin Crum, Mrs. Glenn Hoobler and Mrs. Albert Beeson were named delegates to the state convention to be held June 23 to 26 in Toledo. The alternates are Mrs. Curt Stoffer, Mrs. Fred Snyder and Mrs. Harold Keefe.

Members planned to attend services at the Church of Our Saviour Sunday morning. Members are to meet at the church at 10:45 a.m. Lunch was served by Mrs. Beeson and Mrs. Gerald Cameron.

LEAVES BOND IN LISBON

LISBON — Donald E. Suppes, 22, of Wooster RD 2, forfeited a $25 bond for reckless operation in May, or Dean Stockman's court today, after he fell asleep on W. Lincoln Way at 6:35 a.m. and his pickup truck struck the rear of a parked car owned by Robert B. McKenzie of 220 W. Lincoln Way.

First state in the U.S. to make provision in its earliest constitution for a state library was Michigan.

Mrs. James Staufeneger

Miss Carol Kluth Becomes Bride of James Staufeneger

Miss Carol Ann Kluth carried a white prayer book topped with a white orchid and satin streamers, tied with lovers knots and stephanotis for her marriage to James J. Staufeneger Saturday afternoon in St. George's Church in Lisbon.

The Rev. Fr. William H. Hohman, pastor, officiated for the double ring ceremony before an altar setting of white lilies and mums, and candelabras and banked with palms and greenery. White satin bows marked the family pews. Custom of open church was observed.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Kluth of Lisbon-Salem Rd., and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Staufeneger of Salem.

Miss Joan Klug presented a half hour of nuptial music, and Miss Betty McKenna sang "Ave Maria," "Beautiful Angel," "Mother Beloved" and "On This Day Beautiful Mother."

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length princess-style gown of peau de sole with fitted bodice and long sleeves with button trim extending almost to the elbow.

Seed pearls adorned the scalloped formed of re-embroidered alencon lace for the scoop neckline. Panels of alencon lace outlined the front and sides of the billowing skirt which extended into a cathedral train.

Her finger-tip veil of silk illusion was attached to a lace and tulle bonnet effect half-hat.

Mrs. Raymond Kluth of Columbus, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. Her gown of aqua Italian silk with taffeta trim featured a molded bodice, a scoop neckline and tiny puffed sleeves. The bouffant skirt with bustle back was ballerina-length. A matching organza bandeau of pearl tipped petals completed her attire. Her colonial bouquet was of yellow daisies and roses.

The bridesmaids, Miss Bonnie Staufeneger, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Joan Flowers of Akron, a college classmate of the bride, were also gowned in aqua and carried bouquets identical to that of the matron of honor.

Raymond Kluth, brother of the bride, served as best man, and ushers were Harry Ellis of Salem and Frank Ditoe of Columbus, friends of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Kluth chose for her daughter

FOUNDATION FACTS

No matter how exciting and glamorous a new makeup may be, it's only as good as the foundation upon which it's placed. The right base gives a smooth, finished look to the skin. Foundation bases come in liquid, cream and cake forms. The liquid ones are formulated for both dry and oily skins. The cream type is usually for dry skin that needs additional lubrication. Most cake-type bases are best with oily skin.

No matter how glamorous a hair-do may be, it must be suited to the individual. Let us create a comfortable coil for you for the warm weather.

Couple Honored on 67th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rich of 319 E. 8th St. observed their 67th wedding anniversary Sunday, with a dinner party served at Garneau's Smorgasbord in North Lima.

The dinner was planned by their children, Fred and Gordon Rich and Mrs. L. L. McCluggage of Salem.

Twenty three were in attendance with out of town guests being Joseph Rich and Miss Jean Kohar of Columbus, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Smith and children of Cuyahoga Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnson of Alliance, Dr. and Mrs. Everett J. Rich and daughter of Seewickley, Pa. and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Zimmerman of Centerville.

A daughter-in-law, Mrs. Marie Rich, was also present. She recently returned from Los Angeles, Calif., where she spent the winter with her son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Ray Sprowl.

The afternoon was spent informally at the home of the honorees. The couple received many cards, flowers and gifts.

Shower Party Held For Kathryn Groves

Miss Kathryn Groves was feted at a surprise shower recently in honor of her approaching marriage to Larry James Bennett.

Mrs. Eldon Kropf of Greenford was hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Fred Puttkamer. Mrs. Elden Groves, Mrs. Donald Bennett and daughter, Kay, were guests.

Game honors went to Mrs. Bennett and Mrs. Raymond Luxeul. The luncheon table was centered with a bouquet of roses, with rose nosegays as favors.

Miss Groves, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elden Groves of Washingtonville Road, and Mr. Bennett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bennett of Greenford, will be married at 7:30 p.m. June 18 in an open church ceremony in the First Methodist Church.

Miss Groves is a graduate of Ohio State University, majoring in home economics, and her fiancé is associated with his father in Bennett's Greenhouse Florists in Greenford.

Deaths and Funerals

John S. Myers

John S. Myers, 37, of 243 W. 2nd St., died suddenly of a heart attack at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday while at work at the Salem China Co.

Born at Mount Pleasant, W. Va., May 30, 1922, he was the son of Samuel and Sylvia Hartin Myers. A resident here four weeks, coming from Paden City, W. Va., he was employed as a handle finisher by the Salem China Co. While in Paden City he was a member of the fire department.

Survivors include his mother of East Liverpool; his wife, Pauline Fulmer Myers; three daughters, Sharon Lee, Ruth Ann, Debbie V.; a son, John W., all at home; a sister, Mrs. Lenora Snyder of Friendly, W. Va.; two brothers, Herbert and Lawrence Myers of Alliance.

Services will be held Friday at 2 p.m. at the Arbaugh-Pearce Funeral Home. The Rev. Leslie Wells of the Calvary Baptist Church will officiate, with burial in Columbian County Memorial Park near East Liverpool.

Friends may call at the funeral home Thursday evening.

Forand Bill Is Blasted By Fleming

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Forand bill is not pinpointed to the need of providing medical aid for the aged, says Arthur S. Fleming, U.S. secretary of health and welfare.

In place of the bill, Fleming advanced the Eisenhower Administration's plan for medical aid for those 65 and over.

He said the Forand bill "involves the imposition of an additional payroll tax under the Social Security Act in order to provide specific health benefits to all persons covered by social security irrespective of need."

His remarks were delivered Tuesday to the opening session of the Group Health Institute, an organization of leaders in the group medical care field.

He said the Forand bill is not a sound approach because it would sharply curtail opportunity for growth in the coverage and adequacy of voluntary health insurance.

Fleming said the bill includes many persons who are not a part of the problem and who would have no desire to participate, and would exclude almost one-fourth of the 16 million persons age 65 and over because they are not eligible for social security.

Boosting the Administration plan, he said, "It places the administration of the program in the hands of the states."

"I believe we should insist on a federal-state partnership as opposed to a complete control by the federal government," he said.

Four Councilmen Attend State Clinic

Five Salem city officials attended a Work Clinic conducted at Boardman Tuesday night by the office of State Auditor James A. Rhodes.

Purpose of the workshop was to familiarize city personnel with finance procedures now in operation and with other legal changes in cities' finance departments.

Attending from Salem were Councilmen Fred Koenreich, Carl Abe, Harold Astry and Arthur Hanna, and City Treasurer James Criswell.

The program featured a talk by Mr. Rhodes and a panel which answered questions from the audience.

More than 200 officials of north-eastern Ohio communities attended. Other such clinics have been scheduled for other areas of the state.

Winners In Road-e-o Contest Announced

Kathy Hrovatic and Don Davidson will represent Salem in state Teenage Road-e-o competition at Warren June 5.

They were the winners in the local contest held Saturday in the Eljer Co. parking lot.

Miss Hrovatic scored the highest mark, 312, in the girls division. Peggy Overholt was runner-up with 257 points and Pat Mitchell was third with 256.

Davidson piled up 305 points in winning the boys title. Jake Evans took second place with a 289 total, while Gary Whiteleather's 288 was third.

The safe driving contest was sponsored by the Salem Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Westminster College Dormitory Dedicated

Mr. and Mrs. Arch Bricker and Mr. and Mrs. R. S. McCulloch Sr., were in New Wilmington, Pa., Tuesday night to attend the dedication of the new $500,000 Shaw dormitory and 20-bed infirmary at Westminster College.

The building was constructed by Bricker and Bricker, Salem construction firm. The dormitory will accommodate 158 students.

Richard A. Pasco

Richard Allen Pasco, 36, of Benton Road, died at 2 a.m. today in North Side Hospital, Youngstown. He had been ill two days.

Born in Salem Dec. 7, 1923, he was a son of Anthony and Delores Williams Pasco.

Friends may call at the funeral home Thursday from 3 to 5 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Two Are Cited After Traffic Collisions

Two persons were cited by Salem police for traffic violations as the result of two non-injury accidents Tuesday.

Rosina Lang, 69, of 355 W. Pershing St., was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way at 10:40 a.m. after her car and one driven by Robert S. McCulloch, 76, of 344 Highland Ave., collided on E. State St., near Woodland Ave. Police said Mrs. Lang pulled away from the curb and into the side of McCulloch's car.

Charged with reckless operation was Arthur J. Tasker, 22, of 372 Sharp Ave. at 3:26 p.m. after his car and one driven by Willis J. Jugh, 46, of Sebring collided at the intersection of Pershing St. and S. Broadway. Police said Tasker went through a red light before the collision.

Tasker and Mrs. Lang were fined $10 and costs each in Mayor Dean Crammer's court.

News Media Is Topic At Rotary Luncheon

The function and purpose of the various news media in the Salem area were discussed Tuesday at the weekly meeting of the Rotary Club.

Major part of the program was carried by a panel composed of George Rogers of The Salem News, James Shipley of radio station WSOM, James Gregg of the Youngstown Vindicator, and Elden Groves of the Farm and Dairy.

A question and answer period followed. Program chairman was Wayne Darling.

392 Vehicles Pass Through Check Lane

Safety Chairman James L. Johnson reports that 392 vehicles passed through the vehicle safety check lane on N. Ellsworth Ave. near 9th St. Tuesday afternoon.

Of this total, 72 vehicles were rejected for having one or more defective items in the 10 point safety check inspection. Seventeen motorists had their defects corrected and returned to receive their "Circle of Safety" windshield sticker.

This brings the count to 654 vehicles processed in the first two days of this annual program, conducted locally by Salem Council, United Commercial Travelers.

The check lane will be located on the north side of W. State St. beyond Sharp Ave. this afternoon. Tomorrow it will be on the west side of S. Lincoln Ave. near Perry St. The lane will be operated from 2 to 8 p.m. each day.

UCT members in charge of the lane Tuesday were Aubrey Cain, Paul Brooks and Rex Hundertmark. They were aided by the following girl scouts who served as recorders: Sherry Hixenbaugh, Patty Sweitzer, Carole Bartha and Sidney Johnson. The following boy scouts serving as checkers: George Murphy, Lennie Miller, John Tarterton, Jerry Harris and Ronnie Crumbaker. Parker Chevrolet furnished mechanic James Pittman, while patrolman Norman Flick and auxiliary patrolman Don Cope handled the traffic problems.

While Mr. McKenzie attended Wittenberg, he was active in the Lambda Chi Alpha social fraternity, as well as being a member of Phi Sigma Tau, national philosophy honorary, and Pi Sigma Alpha, a national political science honorary. He graduated in 1956 with a Bachelor of Arts degree, having majored in history.

He studied at Chicago Lutheran Theological Seminary and received the Bachelor of Divinity degree on May 8, 1960. During his study at the seminary, Mr. McKenzie interned on the weekends at Holy Trinity Church in Elkton, Ill., and Faith Church in Glen Ellyn, Ill. He also spent a year as a student intern at St. Paul's Church in Davenport, Iowa, before completing his final year of study.

Last summer Mr. McKenzie participated in the European Study Project which is sponsored by the Lutheran World Federation and the National Lutheran Council.

The ordinance will begin his ministry as pastor of Gethsemane Lutheran Church, Cicero, Ill., June 1, following a few days of vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. McKenzie and his brother, Richard in Washingtonville.

Canton Pilot Takes Off From Highway

TORONTO (AP) — The pilot of a single-engine plane forced down by fog on a highway near here took off Tuesday after police blocked off a mile of the road.

Wayne McFarren, 32, of Canton, Ohio, got special permission from the Federal Highway Department to fly the plane out. Aircraft that on Canadian highways are usually dismantled and towed to the nearest airfield.

McFarren said he tried to land Monday night at Toronto's Malton Airport but picked the highway when he received only intermittent replies from the airport control tower.

With two passengers, Richard German and Jim Smeltzer, both of Canton, McFarren was going fishing at Rice Lake, near Peterborough.

School Group to Hear Talks by Bell, Judge

LISBON — County Auditor Kenneth Bell and County Treasurer Vincent Judge will speak to the combined school boards and clerks of Columbiana, Leetonia, East Palestine and Lisbon boards at their meeting tonight at Wick Hotel.

Lisbon Village School Board will act as host to the group which meets about every two months to discuss mutual school problems. Tonight's topic will be school finances.

ROAD BIDS SOUGHT

LISBON — Bids will be received up to June 14 by the State Highway Department for improvement of a curve, grading and drainage and asphalt blacktopping a 20-foot wide segment of Township Road 958, the East Palestine-Unity Rd., according to State Rep. Clarence Weitzel.

The township, county and state are cooperating on the project.

Leetonia to Install New Water Valves

LEETONIA — The Leetonia Board of Public Affairs announced today that water will be shut off Thursday at 10 p.m. and probably will be off most of the night to install two new valves, one at Madison Street and the other at Hazel Street.

With the installation of the new valves, the Water Department will be able to shut the water off on one side of town without shutting it off on the other side. At the present time, if there was a break in the water lines anywhere in the village, it would cause the whole town to be without water until the break was repaired.

Residents are asked to draw whatever water is needed before 10 p.m. Thursday.

The Priscilla Club of St. Paul's Lutheran Church will meet at the home of Mrs. Fred Floding, 753 Columbia St., Thursday evening at 8.

Methodist Church Choir will practice Thursday evening at 7 p.m.

MYF of the Methodist Church will meet Thursday evening at 8.

Saratoga, German Merchant Ship Crash

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The aircraft carrier Saratoga and the West German merchant ship Bernd Leonhardt collided 200 miles east of Cape Henry Tuesday night, the Navy reported today.

No one was hurt on either ship. The carrier came into Hampton Roads and the freighter proceeded toward Baltimore, Md.

Both ships were damaged in the collision which occurred about 7 p.m.

The Saratoga's jet fuel lines were ruptured, starting a fire which was quickly extinguished. Her catwalks and one of her sonar masts were heavily damaged and one of her masts was overboard.

A spokesman at Atlantic Fleet Headquarters said the Saratoga was sideswiped on her port side. The destroyer Stribling escorted the merchant ship from the collision area to the Virginia Capes. Then the merchantman headed toward Baltimore.

The 60,000-ton Saratoga is the largest aircraft carrier ever built — slightly larger than the Forrestal, first of the super carriers.

The ship is 1,040 feet long with a 248-foot beam and carries 100 aircraft.

46 Children In Receiving Home

EAST PALESTINE — Edward Patsch, superintendent of the Kyes Receiving Home here, was the main speaker at a meeting of the Women's Democratic Club on Tuesday night at City Hall.

Patsch reported that there are 46 children, ranging from 2 to 17 years of age, at the county-operated home which was opened in February. He said that so far in May, they have served 1,226 full meals and 390 bedtime snacks.

The superintendent issued an appeal for clean, usable clothing for boys and girls aged 2 to 17. He also said they would welcome receiving most any kind of games. Patsch said the home is open to visitors.

The meeting last night was the regular monthly gathering of the Women's Democratic Club. Mrs. Kay Blackburn of Columbiana, county chairwoman, reported on a recent women's convention in Washington.

The club announced plans for its annual picnic to be held at City Park on June 22 at 6:30 p.m.

High School Pupils Exhibit Art Work

"The Show of Arts" is the theme of the Salem Senior High art show which begins this evening and continues through Friday at the YWCA, from 6 to 9 p.m.

Approximately 175 exhibits will be on display from the art, wood, metal and clothing departments.

The instructors for the respective departments are George Cummings, John Oana, Raymond Knight and Mrs. Harold Crook.

Beaver Local Future Farmers Plan Meetings

Summer meetings for Beaver Local Chapter Future Farmers of America will be June 20, July 18 and Aug. 15 at Beaver Local High School. Willis Strader is adviser.

At a recent soil judging contest, Raymond Burkey placed first; Wayne Hickman, second; Fred Crawford third; Kenny Dickson, fourth and Bill Williams, fifth.

Program For High School Concert Set

The Salem Senior High School gymnasium will be the scene of the annual spring concert of the High School Vocal Department Thursday evening at 8:15.

The program, announced today by Director F. Edwin Miller, is as follows:

Robed Choir — Louise Oswald, accompanist; "Lord's Prayer"; "I Heard a Voice a-Praying"; "Weep No More Sad Fountains"; John Hanna, baritone soloist; "Ave Maria"; "Alleluia."

Mixed Ensemble — "Every Time I Feel De Spirit"; Patricia Roof, Theresa Viola, Roger Malloy, Pinckney Hall, Helen Liebhart, Karen Trombitas Robert Zeppernick, John Hanna.

All information from the landing spot near the village of Kluetz was roundabout. The reports had to be relayed from the U.S. team through the Soviet command at Potsdam, thence to U.S. Army headquarters at Heidelberg and finally to U.S. Air Force headquarters at Wiesbaden.

This absence of direct contact contributed to premature reports of a takeoff.

Announcement of the takeoff today came from Capt. T. E. Convery, information officer of the Wiesbaden Air Base.

A few minutes later Lt. Col. C. G. Furbush of the information office of headquarters, U.S. Air Force in Europe

Columbiana Rotarians Host to Crippled Tots

COLUMBIANA — About 60 crippled youngsters from Bennett School in Youngstown were entertained Monday by Rotary Club for an outing at Firestone Recreation Park.

Pony and surrey rides for the children were held and a big picnic lunch was served in Pavilion 4. The outing was directed by Harry and Viola Eberhardt, assisted by several Rotarians and Rotary-annes.

"Mountains of Microns," a film depicting the manufacture of Portland cement, was shown at the Kiwanis Club meeting Monday night.

FIRST OF THE local vacation Bible school plans have been announced by Jerusalem Lutheran Church, which will conduct the school for children aged 4 through 12 for a two-week period starting Monday, June 13.

The classes will be held each week day from 9 to 11:30 a.m. at the church. A closing program will be held at 7:30 p.m. Friday, June 24. Subject of the school will be "God's Children Pray." Mrs. Oscar Ballantine is superintendent and Mrs. Paul Barkley, assistant.

MRS. FRED GRAPPY of Columbiana said reservations must be made with her by Friday for the luncheon meeting next Wednesday at Timberlanes in Salem for the Northern Columbiana County Alumnae Club of Ohio State University. Election and installation of officers will be a feature of the meeting, scheduled to start at 12:30 p.m.

Special guests at the affair will be Mrs. Stephen Oprencak of Cincinnati, National Alumnae Council president, and Miss Georgena Howell of Columbus, secretary for alumnae affairs at OSU.

GREEN THUMB Garden Club members will meet at 10:30 a.m. Thursday at Pavilion 4 in Firestone Park for their annual project of refurbishing the flower beds at the popular public outing spot.

Mrs. Elmer Coyle and Mrs. R. G. Oakes will be hostesses. Members are to take a poke lunch. Coffee and dessert will be furnished.

Boy's License Lifted As Result of Fatality

The driver's license of John Smith, 16, of North St., Salineville was suspended for one year and he was ordered to pay $200 at the rate of $5 a week to the Wilbur Boals family of Station Hill, Salineville, at a trial Tuesday before Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin at Lisbon.

The punishment was meted out as a result of the traffic death of the Boals' daughter, Bernadine, 18, which occurred April 1 on Rt. 164, east of Salineville.

Bernadine, a passenger in a car driven by Smith which went out of control and plunged over an embankment, died of a fractured skull.

The stated had contended that Smith was traveling at a rate exceeding 60 miles per hour and lost control of his auto as he attempted to pass another car driven by Earl Cale, formerly of Gavers. However, testimony regarding the speed, given by passengers in Cale's and Smith's cars and by a state highway patrolman who measured skid marks of Smith's auto, conflicted.

Judge Tobin found that Smith failed to give an audible signal when passing and that Cale was left of center.

Cale moved away since the mishap and was not available to give testimony. Judge Tobin ordered his arrest if he should enter the state's jurisdiction again.

NEW OFFICE HOURS

A new schedule of office hours for the county agriculture extension office in Lisbon has been announced by Floyd Lower, county extension agent.

The office will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, but will be closed Saturday. Only a few office and telephone calls have been received Saturday mornings, Lower said.

SHIP TO SET RECORD

ASHTABULA, Ohio (AP) — A record for a single delivery by a Great Lakes ship will be set when the steamer Murray Bay docks here late today with 24,180 gross tons of iron ore. The current record is 23,291 tons delivered to Cleveland by the steamer Meinhek Lake.

City Softball Contests Featured By Two One-Hitters

Carl's Tavern Blasts Grangers

Errors Trip Deming; Orphans Winners

By DICK BRAUTIGAM
A pair of one-hitters were tossed in the City Softball Leagues Tuesday but one of them was a losing effort.

Jerry Bryson pitched Carl's Tavern into the Class A lead with a Mile Branch Grand only one hit, but his Deming Co. teammates committed seven errors and dropped the game 5-0.

In the other Class AA contest played last night at Kelley field, the Orphans broke into the victory column for the first time this season on the strength of some solid hitting by Denny Stonemetz and upset previously unbeaten Stepanic's Tavern, 6-0.

AN INFIELD SINGLE by Schwartzhoff in the second inning spoiled Bryson's no-hitter. Bryson struck out seven and walked only one man in registering the victory.

The win was the third straight for Carl's. Mile Branch is still looking for its first victory.

Carl's pounded Gene Kitzmiller for nine hits, including a triple by Talbert and doubles by Bryson, Bush and Jackson.

Bryce Feicht hurled a six-hit shutout for Shaffer Ford against Deming's. He also collected the only hit off Ehrhart, a lead off single in the fourth inning.

Feicht struck out one and walked three while his opponent on the mound fanned two and walked two.

THE GAME WAS scoreless until the fourth inning when Feicht's single and two errors brought home a pair of runs. A walk, two errors and a series of mental lapses on the part of the Deming line led to three more tallies in the fifth.

There were no extra base hits in the game.

Stonemetz limited Stepanic's Tavern to just three hits in hurling the Orphans to their surprise win. The defeat for Stepanic's dropped them into a tie with Shaffer Ford for first place. Both have 2-1 marks.

The Orphans jumped on Glen Mercer for nine hits. The first two men in the Orphans batting order, Warner and Stanley, each collected three singles.

Stonemetz struck out four and walked three in recording the victory. Mercer fanned one and issued one free ticket.

Natural GOLF

Middle Irons

By JIMMY DEMARET

The accompanying illustration shows you the stance for middle-iron shots.

The ball is addressed so that an extension of the center guide line would pass at a point almost equidistant between the heels, as indicated by the arrow. The left foot is taken slightly back from a point on the intended line of flight, so that the entire stance is a bit more open than it is for fairway wood shots or drives.

This is the stance, then, for shots involving the five, six and seven irons. Two, three and four-iron shots should be played at a point midway between the illustrated position for middle irons and the suggested position for fairway woods.

As pointed out in my Golf-To-Music Lessons album, the size of the swing for middle irons is less than that put in use in the hitting of woods or distance irons, so the feet can be closer together. Middle irons are shorter-shafted clubs than woods or distance irons, so you are standing closer to the ball. First and foremost, you are taking aim, putting yourself in position to make certain that if your swing is sound, the ball will go where you want it to go.

NEXT: The essentials of a fundamentally-sound stance vary only in proportion.

Beaver Local Boosters Club Honors Athletes at Dinner

The Beaver Local Boosters Club honored the high school baseball, track and golf squads at its annual Spring Athletic Banquet Tuesday night at the school.

Junior Mike Durbin added another trophy to his collection by being named by his teammates as the most valuable man on the track squad this season. Earlier this year, Durbin won the most valuable player award for basketball.

He set three school records in track this year while scoring 117 points in eight dual meets. Durbin's records are 10.6 in the 100-yard dash, 5 ft. 8 in. in the high jump and 24.0 in the 220-yard dash.

Moore 2 1/2-1 Favorite Over Besmanoff

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Light heavyweight champion Archie Moore, looking as though he trained for a fat man's picnic race, makes his first start in nine months tonight against Germany's Willi Besmanoff in a 10-round heavyweight match.

The nationally televised match 9 p.m., EST ABC-TV) is a replay of a May 2, 1958 bout in which Moore scored a split decision over Besmanoff in Louisville, Ky.

Moore is called a 2 1/2 to 1 favorite even though he'll come into the ring about 200 pounds, 25 over the 175 limit at which he reigns world champion.

Archie, supposedly approaching 46, may even weigh a few pounds more than the sharply trained Besmanoff, who fights out of Milwaukee. Certainly, he has the bulge in age, almost 20 years over the 27-year-old Besmanoff.

This will be a $25,000 payday for Moore in his only start between his last outing, a three-round knockout of Yvon Durelle last Aug. 12, and his next scheduled title defense, against Germany's Erich Schoppner, in July.

Moore has a $25,000 guarantee or 35 per cent of the net, including TV, from the show in the Coliseum, which is expected to draw 8,000, and a possible $60,000 gross. Besmanoff has a $6,000 guarantee.

The venerable Moore has a 177-24-6 ring record, against 41-1-97 for Besmanoff.

Orioles Blast White Sox 6-1

Tigers Jar Yanks, A's Rip Red Sox

By The Associated Press
The Baltimore Orioles, it appears, no longer are pigeons for the other American League clubs. The Birds, backing southpaw rookie Steve Barber with a five-run fourth-inning, rode back into first place with a 6-1 victory at Chicago Tuesday night, dropping the White Sox to third with their third straight defeat in the opener of a two-game series.

It was the third consecutive victory for the Orioles. They now have a 3-1 season edge over the defending champions and a half-game lead over both Cleveland and the White Sox.

Cleveland moved into second place, five percentage points ahead of Chicago, with a 7-2 victory over Washington. Detroit closed within one game of fourth-place New York as Don Mossi whipped the Yankees 4-0 with a four-hitter. Kansas City sent Boston to a 10th straight defeat, 6-2.

In the National League, San Francisco regained first place by beating Philadelphia 4-0 on a four-hitter by Sam Jones. Pittsburgh slipped eight percentage points behind the Giants with a 4-2 loss to Los Angeles. Milwaukee at St. Louis and Chicago at Cincinnati were rained out.

The Orioles beat southpaw Herb Score (1-3) with two out in the fourth inning. Baltimore collected 13 walks off four White Sox pitchers. Score gave up seven of them, two in the five-run outburst.

Barber, 21, won his third in a row with a seven-hitter. Johnny Romano drove in three runs for Cleveland, two with a clinching, seventh-inning homer. The Indians then counted four in the eighth. Bubba Phillips drove in two with a single. Jim (Mudcat) Grant, now 12-0 lifetime against the Senators, won it with a four-hitter for a 2-1 record. Jim Lemon hit a two-run homer in the ninth, his 10th, tops in the majors. Chuck Stobbs (1-1) lost it.

The Tigers, finally back to .500 after that 10-game losing streak, won their third in a row with a first-inning run on a walk, a wild pitch and Al Kaline's two-out single off loser Bill Short (2-3).

Charlie Maxwell's second home run in two games got the other three home in the fifth. Mossi, now 2-3, had a two-hitter until the ninth, when he got Roger Maris on a grounder after two out singles by Bill Skowron and Elston Howard.

Mary Throneberry hit a home run, triple and double for the A's, scoring three runs and driving in three. His two-run double decided it in the fourth off Dave Hillman, who lost his first AL decision. Bud Daley (4-2) won his third in a row.

Golf Field Day Set At Flying B Course
A field day of golf will be held at the Flying B course, starting at 8 a.m. Saturday.

A 75 per cent handicap tournament, which is open to the public, will be the feature attraction. Members of the Flying B Golf Club may enter the tourney for a $2 fee. The entry fee for non-members is $4.50. This covers refreshments as well as a day of golf.

Operated by Paul Ritchie and John Less, the Flying B Course is located at Duck Creek and Middleton Rds.

SOCCER GAME SET
An international soccer game will be played at Rayen Stadium in Youngstown Saturday, June 11, at 4 p.m. between the Kilmarock Soccer Club of Scotland and the U.S. Canadian All-Stars.

Kilmarock is regarded as one of the top soccer teams in Britain.

GOOD FISHING REPORTED
Ray Mennert, manager of Manfull Lake near Kensington, reports excellent fishing there, particularly walleyes.

He says Salem area anglers have also been catching catfish, bass, perch, white bass and bluegills. The walleyes at Manfull are running up to 20 inches, Mennert reports.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By RUFUS LIDE

Fishing was very good over the weekend. From all reports bass, bluegills, walleyes, muskies and catfish were on a rampage.

All it took to stir up the fish was one warm day of sunshine followed by a warm cloudy day like it was last Saturday.

Now, if I could predict correctly the fishing conditions for the next week, I would be a genius, but it only stands to reason that if the weather is right then fishing should continue to be good. This, though, remains to be seen.

At Zepernick Lake the fishermen were taking home large stringers of bullhead catfish that averaged 11 in., along with bass averaging around 14 in. The same was true at Lake Guilford. However, the carp fishermen were having the most fun landing carp from about 14 inches up to 20 lbs.

Bow and arrow hunters are in for some good shooting provided they are at Guilford when the carp come into the shallows to feed and spawn. It's just a question of being there at the right time, as they don't follow any particular pattern of the time of day they become most active.

AT WESTVILLE LAKE the bass fishermen were having a field day taking bass up in the five lb. class with two and three pounders being common.

This lake is one of the best examples of liberalized fishing that I know.

When I moved to Westville nine years ago, bass fishing was not permitted until July, 1 each year. The result: you were a lucky fisherman if you caught a three lb. bass.

In other words bass fishing was shut off right when bass fishing should have been good. Fishermen began to shake their heads.

Mexican Boxer Picked 'Fighter Of Month'
NEW YORK (AP) — Bantam-weight champion Jose Becerra's victory over Japan's Kenji Yonekura in a title defense in Tokyo has earned him "fighter of the month" honors from Ring magazine.

The Mexican won a split decision over Yonekura Monday. Yonekura was listed as the No. 3 contender in the latest Ring ratings, released today. Listed ahead of him are France's Alphonse Halimi, the former champion, and Brazil's Eder Jofre.

In the biggest upset of the past month, Hank Casey of Richmond, Calif., whipped Henry Hank of Detroit, and gained a place in the middleweight top ten. Casey was moved into the No. 9 spot, replacing inactive Carmen Basilio. Hank dropped from fourth to fifth.

Former welterweight champion Virgil Akins of St. Louis regained a ranking on the strength of his victory over Charley Scott, of Philadelphia. Akins was given the ninth spot and Scott was demoted from sixth to eighth.

Lightweight Paolo Rosi, the Italian-born New Yorker, was dropped from second to sixth among the 135-pounders for his loss to Eddie Perkins of Chicago. Perkins was ranked ninth. Dave Charnley of England, Len Matthews of Philadelphia, Battling Torres of Mexico, and Carlos Hernandez of Venezuela each moved up one position—to second, third, fourth and fifth, respectively.

Heavyweight Alex Miteff of Argentina, outpointed by Eddie Machen, of Portland, Ore., was dropped from sixth to seventh place.

Ohio Meet Set This Weekend

Star High School Athletes to Vie

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's high school track-field champions Friday and Saturday should be twice as sensational as any of the previous 50 scholastic cinder carnivals.

Admission price for fans has been boosted from 50 cents to one dollar.

But there will be no charge for customers wishing to view the 33rd baseball tournament, the 34th golf championship play, or the 41st tennis meet. The four-day spring program is scattered all over Ohio State University's athletic plant.

The 51st track-field schedule calls for 14 events in both Class A and Class AA, with the hot-shots from the starting field of 750 schools competing. Springfield and defending champion Cleveland Glenview are favored to fight it out for the Class AA crown, but Class A figures as a toss-up.

Each Class AA event has at least 37 qualifiers as the result of district eliminations, and 26 will be on hand for each Class A competition. Many more are eligible—for in one district meet eight boys tied for third in the high jump and all get a spot in the state finals.

Cincinnati Elder is back for defense in its Class AA baseball crown, but the rest of the field is new. Euclid and Lima have qualified, and Massillon and Bridgeport were in a fight for the fourth berth. Class A has Liberty Union, Newton Falls, Braceville and Convo Union in the fold, with the Southwestern District qualifier still to be heard from.

Finals in the Class A shot put, pole vault and broad jump, and the Class AA discus, are scheduled Friday afternoon, along with preliminaries in several track events in both classes.

First of the track finals is booked at 1:30 p.m. Saturday, but two Class A and four Class AA field competitions will be under way long before that. Final event is slated at 4 p.m.

The golf, tennis and baseball first rounds are scheduled Friday afternoon, with all finals Saturday.

Speedway 45 Program Will Open Sunday

Speedway 45, located three and a half miles south of Salem on Rt. 45, will try again Sunday to get its 1960 racing season underway.

Last week's scheduled opener was washed out.

Mayor Dean Cranmer will be honorary starter for the first race Sunday afternoon. Time trials will begin at 12:30 and the first race is scheduled for 1:30. Both single engine and twin engine cars will race in six different classifications on the banked, one-eighth of a mile track.

A Memorial Day racing program is also planned, starting at 12:30 p.m.

DOG CLUB TO MEET

The Salem Area German Shepherd Club will meet Thursday at 8 p.m. at the Bowman Building on E. State St.

Senators 7-2 Victims

Grant Allows Four Hits as Tribe Wins

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians' hunt for another starting pitcher seems to have hit gold—and it was there on their own staff all the time.

The nugget is Jim (Mudcat) Grant, who turned in his second straight victory as a starter Tuesday night. He pitched a four-hitter in going the route for the first time this season.

The Indians' 7-2 triumph over the Washington Senators was also Mudcat's 12th consecutive defeat of his favorite cousins.

Grant hurled shutout ball until the ninth, when Jim Lemon, the league's leading home-run hitter, blasted his 10th with one man aboard to end the string of 15 zeroes Grant posted in the two starts.

The Senators made only two hits off Grant in the first eight innings.

"I decided before the game that I was going to put everything I had on every pitch," Grant explained afterwards. "I thought I'd bear down and go as far as I could."

Due to a combination of a poor showing in the spring, a sore shoulder and some fast-developing rookie hurlers, Grant got his first start just last Friday. He beat the Red Sox, but was retired in the eighth.

"It's good to see Mudcat come around," said Manager Joe Gordon.

Gordon added, however, that he still can use another starter.

The Indians gave Mudcat a big lead Tuesday night by scoring one run in the fourth, two on a homer by John Romano in the seventh and four in the eighth.

The loser was Chuck Stobbs (1-1), who made his first start of the season. Grant's record now is 2-1.

Stobbs was relieved by Tex Clevenger in the seventh with two on base and two out after the Indians had scored two runs. Clevenger was lifted for a pinch-hitter in the eighth, and Hal Woodeshick finished the pitching chores for the Senators.

The Indians close both the two-game series with the Senators and the home stand tonight. Jim Perry, fully recovered from a bruised right instep, will pitch.

He'll oppose righthander Bill Fischer, making his first start of the season.

Dodgers Jar Pirates 4-2

Giants Score 4-0 Win Over Phillies

By The Associated Press
You might call it a left-handed swipe at Pittsburgh, but it's been southpaw pitching that has dumped the Pirates out of the National League lead.

They dropped a 4-2 decision to Los Angeles and Johnny Podres Tuesday night and slipped eight percentage points behind San Francisco. The Giants got back on top with a 4-0 victory at Philadelphia behind the four-hit pitching of Sam Jones, who gained his first road success of the season.

It was the second straight defeat for the Pirates and their third in four games. All three losses were to left-handers—Podres and Dodger teammate Sandy Koufax, who blanked the Bucs on one hit Monday, and the Giants' Johnny Antonelli.

Fact is, southpaws have been responsible for Pittsburgh's last four defeats and five of their six losses in two weeks.

The other two NL games—Milwaukee at St. Louis and Chicago at Cincinnati—were rained out.

In the American League, Baltimore regained first place from Chicago by beating the White Sox 6-1 in the opener of a two-game series. The Sox fell to third behind the Cleveland Indians, who whipped Washington 7-2. Detroit rapped New York 4-0 on the four-hit pitching of Don Mossi. Kansas City tagged Boston with a 10th straight defeat, 6-2.

The Dodgers got two runs in the second inning on Gil Hodges' homer off losing left-hander Joe Gibbon (3-2), then scored the clincher in a two-run fifth. A single by Jim Gilliam, Charlie Neal's sacrifice bunt, which led to Gibbon's run-scoring error, and a sacrifice fly by rookie Frank Howard got the final two home.

Kiwanians Host to Athletes on Thursday

Members of the Salem High School athletic teams and the coaching staffs will be guests of the Kiwanis Club at its Thursday meeting in the Memorial Building.

2 Treated At Lisbon After Car Leaves Road

Two persons were treated by a Lisbon physician Tuesday evening for injuries suffered when the car in which they were riding had a tire blowout on Rt. 154.

State Highway Patrolmen at Lisbon said the injured were Jonquil Dotson, 29, of Box 36, Lisbon, who suffered abrasions of the left hip and knee, and Susan Horn, 17, of RD 5, Lisbon, who received a cut ear.

Patrolmen said they were passengers in a car driven west on Rt. 154 about four miles east of Lisbon, which had a tire blowout, sending the car out of control and into an embankment. Driver was George Dotson, 20, of Box 36, Lisbon.

Bald eagles are increasing slightly in northern Ohio, Ottawa County game protector Laurel Van Camp says. There are at least 15 pairs nesting in the Lake Erie area surrounding Sandusky, several on state wildlife preserves.

WINS AT LEBANON

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)—Mike's Lady, a 10 to 1 shot, took the lead on the front stretch the first time around and held it the rest of the way to win the featured Class C-1 pace at Lebanon Raceway Tuesday night.

Mike's Lady, a five-year-old brown mare, driven by Mitchell O'Neal and owned by J. C. Pinney of Union City, Ind., covered the mile in 2:06 1/5 and paid $22.60 to win.

3 Salem Track Marks Broken This Season

Three all-time Salem High track records have been broken this season and Coach Karl Zellers' thin-clads still have the state meet at Columbus this weekend to improve their marks.

Senior Dan Krichbaum is involved in two of the new standards. He broke an 11-year old 440-yard dash record by touring the quarter mile in 52.2 last week in the district meet. In this meet Krichbaum finished second to Marvin Howard of Warren who set a new district record of 49.0.

The old Salem 440 record was held by Ray Yeager who posted a 52.9 in 1949. Krichbaum had tied that mark earlier this season.

Krichbaum is also a member of the mile relay team which set a new mark of 3:35.8 while finishing in a tie for fourth in the district meet. Other members of this team are Dick Burt, Tom Floyd and Gordy Scullion. Floyd is the only junior; the others are seniors.

Warren won the mile relay in the district meet with a time of 3:31.8.

Senior Ed Yates set the other new Salem record by running the 180-yard low hurdles in 21.4. The old standard was 21.9 set in 1954 by Bob Sebo.

Lt. Sebo, who is currently stationed at the Naval Air Station at Grosse Point, Mich., mistakenly had been credited with a 20.0 in the low hurdles. He confirmed in a letter to Athletic Director Fred Cope this week that his best time in high school was actually 21.9.

Yates set the new mark of 21.4 early this season in a dual meet with Ravenna. He sprained his ankle while broad jumping in that meet and this put him out of action for the season.

The Quakers qualified 11 men in six events for the state meet this Friday and Saturday at Columbus. They are Bob Zeppernick in the discus, Krichbaum in the 440, Jim Lehwald in the pole vault, Gary Devan, Dave Edling, Ron Janovec, and Tim Burchfield in the half mile relay, Jim Solmen in the mile and the mile relay team of Floyd, Burt, Scullion and Krichbaum.

TO JOIN WINGFOOTS

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Johnny Cox, former All-America basketball player at the University of Kentucky, will play with the Akron Goodyear Wingfoots in the National Industrial Basketball League during the 1960-61 season.

He was chosen rookie of the year in the NIBL last season while with the Cleveland Sweeney Pipers, but became a free agent when the Sweeney team was disbanded shortly after the season ended.

ALTERNATE FOR TEAM

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—James Seates of Warren, Ohio, was named Tuesday as one of the 12 alternates for the U. S. Olympics boxing team.

The boxers were chosen by Olympic boxing coach Julie Mendez of San Jose State College. He emphasized they must be approved by Willis Hunter, chairman of the Olympic development committee.

Hot Stove Leagues Open Season

The Salem Hot Stove Leagues got their 1960 baseball season underway Tuesday night.

Fine pitching highlighted play in the older age groups while in the lower classifications the batters showed that they are far ahead of the hurriers at this stage of the season.

CLASS E

Dick Switzer recorded 11 strikeouts in pitching CIO 1538 (Youngstown Kitchens) to a 4-1 victory over CIO 3372 (Bliss).

Switzer had a shutout going until the sixth inning when Brian Houger singled, moved to third on Ted Beery's double and rode home on a single by Gouber Jeffries. The winners were out hit by Bliss eight to six.

Youngstown Kitchens tallied single markers in the first, third, fifth and sixth innings. Ken Marshall collected a pair of singles for the winners. Bill Beery and Gary Kuehman each had two hits for Bliss.

CLASS F

Farmers Bank collected only one hit but made the most of eight walks to edge Youngstown Kitchens 3-1. Defending champion Fisher's News got off on the right track by toppling Eljer 9-5.

Farmers Bank put together four walks and its only hit in the game, a single by Bink Washington, to score all three of its runs in the first inning.

Youngstown Kitchens got one run back in the second when pitcher Moffett led off with a double and worked his way around to score.

Begalla, the winning hurler, yielded only two hits. He fanned nine batters and walked only two. Moffett struck out eight but his wildness kept him in hot water.

Klepper of Fisher's News poked out a home run in his team's victory over Eljer. Fisher's collected only five hits but three of them went for extra bases. Besides Klepper's round tripper, Boughton clubbed a triple and Thomas smashed out a double. Rottenborn had a pair of singles for the losers.

CLASS G

Thomas fanned 10 Eljer batters in picking up the win.

In a pair of sild slugging matches, National Cleaners trampled Eagles 18-13 and the Italian Club took one on the chin, 14-12, at the hands of the Fire Department.

NNational Cleaners slugged out four triples, two of them by Gabriel, in its tilt with Eagles. Scott and Wagner also had three base blows.

Rist accounted for half of Eagles' six hits. He contributed a home run and two singles to the losing cause.

National Cleaners piled up an 11-4 lead after four innings. Both teams slugged away in the final three frames.

This wild game turned up 31 runs, 21 strikeouts, 19 walks, 17 errors and 12 hits.

The Fire Department - Italian Club fray looked like a repeat performance.

The Italian Club tallied three runs in the bottom of the seventh to tie the score at 12-all, only to see the Firemen push across two more tallies to win in the first extra inning.

Each club used two pitchers. Bob Bentley and Rod Bentley of the Firemen combined to register 15 strikeouts. Morrison and Brian each fanned five for the losers.

The Fire Department scored the winning runs without the aid of a hit. Two walks and an infield error plated the two runs in the eighth.

Outdoor Notes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Carl Sturgeon has caught Ohio's biggest largemouth bass of the year, in one of the state's smallest fishing ponds.

The whopper, an 8-pound 2-ounce measuring 23 inches, was caught May 14 by Carl Sturgeon of Westerville, in a 1 1/4-acre pond in Clinton County, on a farm owned by Dr. James C. Johnson of Wilmington.

Sturgeon fished the pond all morning and caught nothing else—and he had quite a tussle landing the lunker without the aid of a net.

Ohio is right up near the top as an industrial state, but wildlife still abounds.

Last year 2,964 deer were killed in the Buckeye realm, in a three-day gun and 75-day archery season, and they were taken in 58 of the 88 counties. In 1958, when 42,676 permit holders killed 4,415 deer, 72 of the 88 counties yielded the antlered game.

The Wildlife Division figures the 1959 take was down because of the shorter season and the fact there was no snow on the ground during the gun-hunting season.

Washington County was tops with an estimated kill of 200 last year, Ashtabula second with 194. It was the first time since deer seasons were inaugurated that Ashtabula failed to lead. Other leaders were Muskingum 134, Meigs 120, Harrison 120, Athens 116, Vinton 116, Morgan 108 and Monroe 104.

Smallmouth bass are thicker than you might think. Ed Brown Jr., fish management supervisor, found from 60 to 100 smallmouths, 10 inches or longer, in a quarter-mile stretch of Massie Creek in Clark and Greene counties. The stream was being regularly fished, too.

Grappie fishing, although not comparable to the bonanza of several years ago, has been exceptionally good at Grand Lake St. Marys, in Auglaize and Mercer counties, and at Harrison Lake State Park in Fulton. Some nice bass are being taken at each spot, too.

Bald eagles are increasing slightly in northern Ohio, Ottawa County game protector Laurel Van Camp says. There are at least 15 pairs nesting in the Lake Erie area surrounding Sandusky, several on state wildlife preserves.

Salem 7th, 8th Graders Lose In Meet

Alliance State Street outpointed the Salem 7th and 8th grade teams in a track meet Tuesday at Reilly Stadium.

The Quaker 8th graders were edged out 35 1/2-32 1/2 while the local 7th graders took a 46-27 thumping from the strong Alliance outfit.

The 8th grade result reversed the score posted when the two schools met in Salem's first meet of the season.

Salem's 8th graders cleaned up in the field events but took a real licking in the track events.

TOM BAUMAN broke a six-year-old Salem broad jump record by leaping 16 ft. 10 in. Bill Carter took a crack at the high jump for the first time and won the event with a fine jump of 4 ft. 11 in.

Jim Anderson gave Salem a sweep of the field events by winning the shot put at 49 ft. 9 1/2. There was no pole vault competition.

Bob Hiner added another first for the Salem 8th grade by winning the 120-yard low hurdles in 16.9.

The most impressive performance of the day was turned in by Blaser of State Street who was clocked in the 440-yard dash at 59.5.

DICK CAPEL picked up five points for Salem by placing second in the broad jump and taking thirds in the 100-yard dash and 220-yard dash.

Salem's 7th grade won just two of nine events in their competition. Gregg Johnson won the six-pound shot put with a toss of 40 ft. The 440-yard relay team of Jim Garrett, Cody Goad, Gregg Johnson and Harold Schramm also came through with a winning time of 58.4.

The Quaker 7th grade improved by two points its previous showing against Alliance State Street.

Boat Is Often Home Afloat

Convenience and Comfort Considered

The average family, shopping for its first boat and nautical experience probably limited to a small outboard, enters a new and bewildering world.

As mother and father and the children inspect the boats in a showroom, they see an array of strange accessories and unfamiliar equipment, much of it identified in a nautical language they've never used before.

The beds are bunks, the kitchen a galley, the walls are bulkheads, the closets are lockers, the bathroom a head, the floors decks, and left and right are port and starboard.

If they were buying a new home, they'd know just what they wanted, what to call it and where to find it. When buying a boat—not too dissimilar a transaction, since living quarters are so important—they are, to employ a pat metaphor, all at sea.

Bearing a few major points in mind, buying a boat can be easier and more fun than deciding on a car and much simpler than acquiring a home.

The first thing to do is to forget about the nautical terminology. The second is to think about the part the boat is to play in the family's living.

Each of the millions of families taking to the water these days has a few individual ideas about boating, but the main thing to remember is to look at a boat as a floating home and buy one that provides all the features that are necessary for comfort, safety and convenience.

Buy a boat that best fills your family's requirements and you'll enjoy every minute spent on your home afloat.

PERKING THEM UP

Glass bowls or vases need washing with hot suds and rinses every time you change cut flowers or greens. This washes away bacteria and any highwater rings that might mar their crystal clearness. A reliable formula for reviving partly wilted cut flowers is to add a teaspoonful of household detergent to a quart of water.

SAFETY AFLOAT

Because you may be hours away from a doctor while cruising in the family boat, be sure to carry a first aid kit and a first aid guide book. They'll come in handy for treatment of cuts, rope burns, heat exhaustion and extracting fish hooks.

INSECT bites spoiling your vacation? Shoo away the bugs with an insect repellent such as "OFF," and relax to your heart's content.

FOR CRUISING, water-skiing and all-day living aboard, an outboard lapstrake boat is high on the popularity list. The high freeboard is an important safety factor when the youngsters are aboard.

Campers Ought To Take Along Instant Foods

Time was when a camper had to either forego the pleasures of a good meal cooked out of doors, or else lug a sack filled with bulky foods.

Now, however, "portable foods" make rugged outdoor living possible without most of the mess and fuss.

Outdoor Living experts of the R. T. French Company, Rochester, N.Y., list these portable foods as helpful to a tasteful camp-out:

Instant Mashed Potato Granules—A seven-ounce box can be used to prepare one serving of mashed potatoes or enough for eight hungry campers. Combine granules according to package directions with water, salt and milk (evaporated for extra convenience), and in about one minute you'll have a saucepan filled with fluffy and flavorful potatoes.

Instant Mixed Vegetables—Carrots, onions, tomatoes, celery, sweet peppers, and spinach are dehydrated and combined in one compact seven-eighths-ounce jar. Just soak the vegetable chips in water for 10 minutes and they're reconstituted for use in salads, eggs, soups and the like.

Instant Minced Onion—Available in a cylindrical 1 1/4-ounce jar, each tablespoon is equal to one medium raw onion. Add directly to soups, stews, etc. For raw onion all you need do is soak one part instant onion in two parts water for five minutes.

Chicken Stock Base—Full-bodied chicken broth can be made by adding one tablespoon of this fine-grained powder to one cup boiling water. Dissolves instantly in cold water, too.

Spaghetti Sauce Mix—This 1 1/2-ounce foil envelope makes enough spaghetti sauce for four servings. Simply heat for ten minutes with tomato paste, water and oil according to package directions. Don't forget to take along the dry spaghetti.

Make Barbecue Sauce Hot

You just can't make a barbecue sauce without the skillful use of spices and herbs. Gusto is what it must have. Perhaps we should thank our men cooks for this new American appetite for lusty seasoning. At any rate, an analysis of grocery store products has shown recently that spicy barbecue sauces and spices are the fastest selling grocery items.

Before you start that sauce, you should have black or white pepper, red pepper, powdered mustard, garlic and onion powder, salt or flakes.

If tomato figures importantly in the recipe, you may want to add a crumbly of oregano or basil leaves. (In that case tone down the red pepper to give the herbs a chance to show off.)

Chili powder has been famous as a barbecue sauce seasoner for years. Or you may prefer barbecue spice, which is chili powder plus. Another famous blend of aromatics—16 in this case—is curry powder. You may think this is a modern convenience, but a cookbook published in 1828 calls for this intriguing flavor combination.

Mixed pickling spice, tied in a little cheesecloth bag, will season barbecue sauce deliciously if allowed to bubble about in the sauce this combination onions or garlic, in powder, salt or flake form should be added.

Why not try these marinated pork kebabs:

Cut 1 1/2 pounds lean pork into 1 1/2-inch cubes. Combine 1/2 teaspoon each of garlic salt and onion salt, 1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper, 1/2 teaspoon powdered mustard, 1/2 teaspoon chili powder, 1/2 teaspoon instant minced onion, 1/4 cup cider vinegar, 2 tablespoons catsup and 2 tablespoons salad oil.

Pour over meat and let marinate in refrigerator 4 to 5 hours, turning meat often. Place on skewers and broil 25 to 30 minutes, turning to cook uniformly. Alternate whole mushroom, green pepper and tomato wedges on skewers about 15 minutes before kebabs are done. Brush, while cooking, with remaining marinade.

Trips With Baby Need Planning

"How do you travel with a baby?" This question pops up again and again in letters to the Nutrition Department of Gerber Baby Foods.

Vacations traditionally start Friday or Saturday, jamming roads, restaurants, traveling facilities. Try to avoid weekend travel with Tiny Tim. Airlines and railroads are doing their best to encourage multi-week travel; many offer reduced family rates.

Regularity is important to baby's well-being. Time your trip so that his daily routine has a minimum of interruption, this is easier to control when you travel in the family car. For instance, get an early start so that most of the driving is done "in the cool of the day" when roads are less crowded. Easier on baby and grown-ups, too.

Don't trust your memory when you pack. Put it in writing and check as you pack. Write up baby's schedule in detail, noting items that will be needed on the trip.

If you're traveling by plane or train, ask whether services include canned baby foods and facilities for warming them.

Cleaning That Boat Need Not Be Chore

Boating is rapidly becoming the nation's number one family sport, with nearly eight million people participating.

Mom and the kids enjoy it, too, now that boat manufacturers are wise to such conveniences as stainless steel sinks, comfortable bunk and plentiful storage space.

Even though it's impossible to be a lot more casual about house-keeping afloat, there are still chores to do. As the skipper will point out, a clean ship is a well-run ship, whether she is a sailing dinghy or a family sized cruiser.

There's more to cleaning a boat these days than just running a wet mop over the decks. However, it's important to keep cleaning chores to a minimum, or the mate may mutiny. After all, she doesn't go to sea to do housework.

A weekly once-over with a vacuum such as the Singer Magic Mite hand vacuum cleaner will do wonders to keep the boat shipshape and the captain happy. Many mates recommend Saturday morning for this chore, doing it while the skipper is loading up with gas, water and other supplies. This handy 5 - pound vacuum cleaner operates on either AC or DC current and may be plugged into the dock outlet. It requires 115 volts.

Here's a basic schedule for boat-cleaning: Saturday morning, whisk over the interior of the cabin, dusting bunk covers, cabin decks, flat surfaces and lockers. Use the cleaner to dust the cockpit, including seats, deck and instrument panel. At least once a month, clean canvas cockpit cover.

When you have a sink full of the breakfast dishes, sponge off table and counter tops, moldings and chrome.

After a hard day's run, when salt spray has come aboard, turn the fresh water hose on the decks to remove salt from varnished and chrome surfaces.

The Magic Mite is useful, too, at laying-up and fitting-out time to clean the bilges, rope and chain lockers and the engine room.

But if the skipper wants to get underway, let the cleaning go until later. It's more important to have fun and enjoy your boat to the fullest!

Boatman Can Almost Live Out of Tubes

Having trouble starting your outboard motor because moisture shorts it out? A few minutes time and a minimum of effort will prevent such power failures.

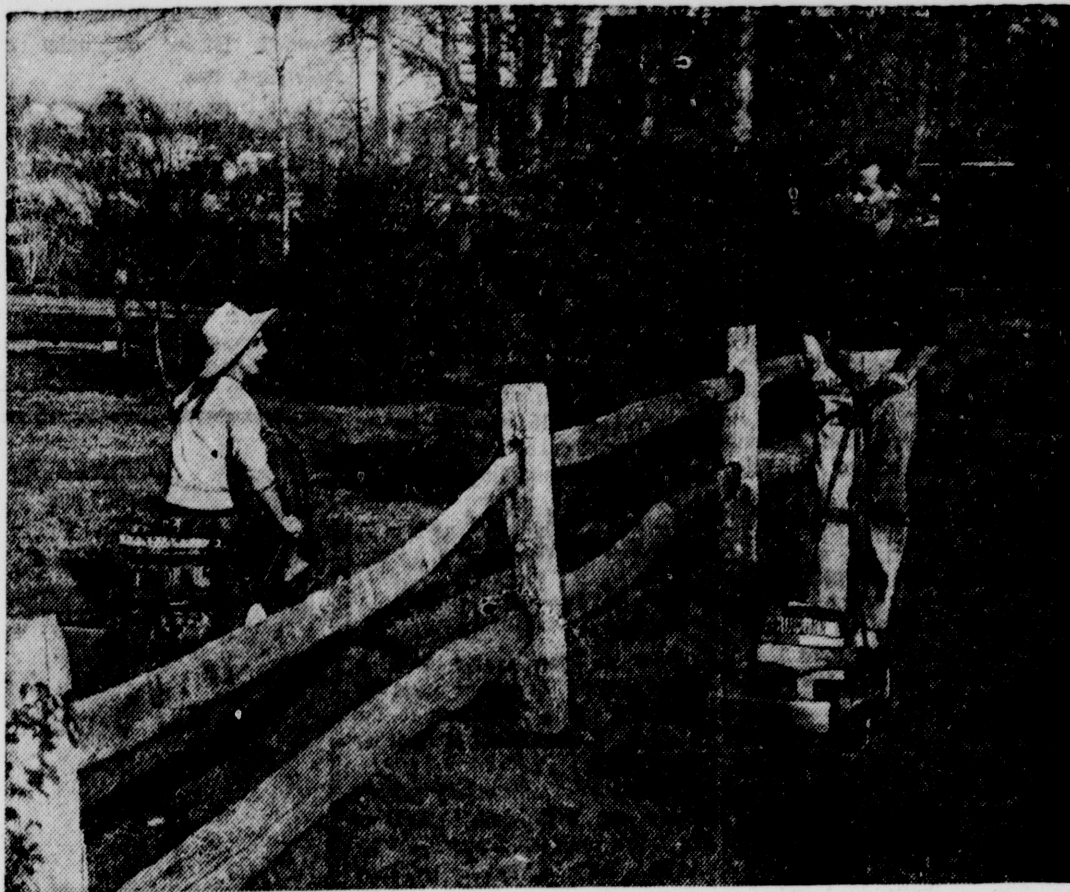

A silicone compound, available in fo'cup metal tubes, can be squeezed around electrical connections and components. This nongumming, nonmelting and noncorrosive compound adheres and forms a barrier against moisture.

It is good, too, for waterproofing electrical circuits, assuring you that your running lights and motor-driven horn will be working when you need them.

And for proper maintenance, there are gear oils and lubricants in collapsible tubes which will not leak and damage work.

Tubed items with a variety of uses are available for the boatman. These containers, being able to withstand both the elements and the possibility of breakage if dropped, assure availability of their contents when needed.

There is a complete repair kit for easy patching of Fiberglas

KEEPING YOUR LAWN trim is a time-consuming job. But it can be made a simple, enjoyable one with a rotary power mower or a versatile rider-mower, such as the Lawn-Boy models shown here. It is reported that the two types will comprise 90 per cent of all 1960 mower sales.

Give Those Garden Crops Head Start

Gardeners are as competitive as fishermen. Half the fun is in raising bigger, healthier, faster-growing fruits and vegetables than the neighbors.

Borrowing a leaf from the commercial grower's book, more and more "gardeners - for - glory" are using peat pot plants to give their fruits and flowers a head start on the competition. They find that wherever transplanting is necessary, they get best results by starting the seeds, seedlings or tubers in pots made of organic peat moss.

The reason? The plant's roots grow right through the pot walls, making it unnecessary to knock the plant out of the pot when it's transplanted. Instead the plant and pot are planted together, and transplant shock and root damage are avoided.

This year, a new product will make peat moss Jack Pots even easier to use. A firm that has pioneered in the development of peat pots, the Willis Reynolds Corp. of Lebanon, Ind., has introduced plastic bedding plant trays, especially designed to hold plants individually potted in peat moss pots.

The trays come in a variety of sizes. The style expected to be most popular with home gardeners, called the DeLuxe Port-A-Planter, holds 12 1 3/4-inch square pots. It is equipped with a saucer to protect window sills or furniture.

These trays make it unnecessary for the home gardener to handle either plants or pots from the time the seed is sown until the plant - and pot - are transplanted. Here's how peat moss pots and bedding plant trays are used: Fill each peat pot in the tray with a good grade of garden soil. Place two or three seeds, one seedling or one tuber in each pot. Firm soil around seedling roots, and water the pots thoroughly. Then place the Port-A-Planter on the

Whiter Whites

White is always popular in summer fashions. But it never looks particularly lovely if it is not sparkling clean. White blouses made of cotton and dacron bends keep their flattering whiteness if chlorine type bleach beads are used in very laundering, whether this is done in a wash bowl at a resort hotel or in a washing machine at home.

Gifts From The Sea

Collecting sea shells is a pleasant way to while away hours spent at the seashore. They make useful ashtrays and ornaments too. When clean and dry, spray them with shellac from an aerosol can to preserve them.

Poolside Safety

Most swimming pools frown upon items contained in glass because of the danger to unshod feet if the container breaks. However, sunburn lotions and even sandwich spreads for a poolside snack now comes in plastic containers or metal tubes.

them thoroughly before they are put in the ground. Standard transplanting procedures are then followed.

The peat pots disintegrate gradually to become a good grade of humus. The tray itself can be used over and over again with new peat pots that come in refill packages.

Little Traveler

Careful planning makes a trip go happily. That means planning for health ahead of what to wear. Take the baby or toddler to the doctor for a complete check-up. Discuss your trip, not forgetting to mention any changes in climate. A sick baby is unhappy at home, and doubly miserable in strange surroundings. A few recommendations on baby's diet and general welfare can smooth your entire journey.

Planning Simplifies Outdoor Meal Tasks

Outdoor eating should be casual and carefree. Too often, by the time you finish preparing and transporting food outdoors, it turns out to be more work than a seven-course dinner indoors.

To simplify procedure, prepare hamburger patties, steaks or franks in advance by individually wrapping them in clear, plastic film. Then fix individual serving plates with a vegetable, salad, dessert, fruit or relish.

Safety Snacks

If you must drive you car extra-long hours, avoid heavy foods and stimulants. Rely in stead of fruit juices, cookies or chocolate bars.

Economy, Trouble-Free Hull Makes Aluminum Boat Popular

Back in 1946 when aluminum boats were first introduced, the prime appeal to fishermen was lack of maintenance. The fisherman wanted a boat that he didn't have to paint or caulk and that wouldn't leak.

He soon found out that there were other advantages, too. The light weight made it easy to transport the boat, and it could be beached on rocks or gravel, if necessary, without worry about leaks or hull damage. It could rub against a dock all day and carry no more serious a scar than a shiny spot.

Although believed at first to be hot and uncomfortable, it has been proven that aluminum, a natural conductor of heat and cold, takes on the same temperature as the water.

A little talk about advantage of the aluminum boat is economy of operation. Since it is lighter than any other boat material, it takes less gas and oil to run for a given time or distance. This is particularly important in remote areas where it is necessary to haul gasoline in the boat.

Aluminum has now proved itself in salt water. The prime suppliers have perfected salt water corrosion-resistant alloys. The salt water use of aluminum boats is increasing every year.

Because of its light weight, it's more convenient to haul an aluminum boat out of the water than to buy mooring or dock space.

Add to its other advantages the fact that it will not absorb moisture and is completely fire-resistant, its increasing popularity among fishermen is easily understandable.

Socks Make The Feet--- Comfortable

For many men, aching "dogs" are an inevitable and unhappy accompaniment to summer's traditional dog days. As the temperature and humidity soar upward, feet bark their protest.

Yet, men are on their feet far more during the summer season than at any other time of the year—golfing, fishing and gardening.

The problem of how to keep "foot happy" in spite of the weather begs for a solution. One step, naturally, is to wear shoes that fit. And equally as important as the shoe, is the socks.

Socks should fit the wearer's foot exactly. If the foot of the sock is too long, the material will gather at the heel or toe and cause general discomfort, if not blisters and calluses. The foot will be constricted if the sock is too short.

It is advisable for men to buy socks of the construction and material that is most comfortable for them. Cotton, wool and synthetic fibers all have different properties. The material that feels good on one man may be with the variety of material now available, any man can have socks that feel as good as good as they look.

This year, Jerks Socks-Woven, right, division of Burlington Hosiery Co., has introduced a new sock made of Tycora, a synthetic that should be especially welcome for summer wear. It is porous, absorbent and washable.

The sportsman, even if he's only a one-a-month golfer, should wear socks that protect his feet. Anyone who tries to play 18 holes of golf in a pair of thin dress hose may run a bigger score of painful blisters than he does strokes.

Socks should be changed more frequently in the summer than in the winter months. On returning home from a day at the office, remove your socks, bathe your feet dust them with foot powder, then don a fresh pair of socks before you settle down for the evening.

THE GARDEN hose you buy now will still be in service when the youngsters grow up if it is Heirloom hose. Its tough outer cover of "Hypalon" synthetic rubber will prevent damage from fertilizer, grease, sunlight or weathering, so it will neither stiffen in the cold nor soften on hot summer days. It will retain its pleasing green color for decades.

Sharp Mower Is the Answer Cut, Don't Hack, Your Lawn

The most ambitious mower-mover behind the most efficient rotary mower can still have the mangiest looking lawn on the street. The reason very often is a simple one—dull blades. Dull blades chew grass rather than cut it and often cause an unsightly discoloration of the grass.

Long, laborious hand honing used to be the only answer to sharpening garden tools. As for the blade of a rotary mower, the only solution was the backbreaking job of loading the mower into the family car and taking it to the local repair shop for professional sharpening.

In the newer model rotary mowers, the blades easily slip out for sharpening. These blades, however, because of their thickness and curvature, are virtually impossible to sharpen by hand honing methods.

The only quick and practical method is with the good services of a quarter-inch power drill, standard equipment in three out of four average homes today. To make the operation as simple as possible, Cummins Portable Tools introduced the first complete, inexpensive, rotary lawn mower blade sharpener kit which operates from the power of the drill. With its adjustable sharpening fixture, grinding wheel, wire brush and four-piece arbor set, what used to take hours can be done in minutes.

Cummins recommends, however, that when sharpening tools that are heavily encrusted, protective glasses be worn.

Take It Easy, Best Advice On Vacation

Here are some brief facts to mull over as you make plans for this year's vacation:

1. More people vacation in July, August and September than in any other three-month period of the year.
2. Most people who travel those months do so by car.
3. About three out of 10 trips during the period are less than 100 miles, while more than half are less than 200 miles.

The key to a successful vacation is moderation, the National Safety Council believes. "Take it easy—on the way and when you get there—and rest when you're tired," it advises.

The council says you can avoid potential spoilers of your vacation by observing these tips:

Before you start your trip—

1. Have your car serviced thoroughly. Pay special attention to lights, brakes, tires and steering. A minor auto ailment can become major under the stress and strain of turnpike driving.
2. Make sure you take along a first-aid kit, spare tire and jack.
3. Pack toys so the children will keep occupied and out of the driver's hair.

On the way to your vacation spot—

1. Watch your speed. Obey traffic signs and signals.
2. Look out for the other driver. Be a defensive driver—expect the unexpected.
3. Take frequent rest stops. Most drivers find 300 or 400 miles a day behind the wheel just about the limit.
4. And when you arrive at your destination—

1. Swim only as far as you're sure you can.
2. Look before you dive. Find out about underwater obstacles and the water's depth.
3. If your boat capsizes, stick with it till help arrives. It will float for hours.
4. Don't get half-baked under the sun.

The build-it-yourself boat is not beyond the skill of even the rank amateur. Boat kits can be purchased in any stage of completion to suit the assembler's aptitude, time or purse.

Annuals Like Petunias, Zinnias Lead Top 10 of Flower World

Well-dressed women and football players aren't the only ones maintaining their places in the top 10 these days. Gardening society also has its own 10 favorites. These are the gayest flowers in the garden, annuals grown from seed.

The National Garden Bureau

Maple Apple Soda Is Tall, Cool Drink

Long summer days . . . and how welcome are long, cool drinks? Here are three to serve and enjoy when kindred spirits gather on your lawn or patio. The drinks look cool and are cool. They are made with chilled apple juice—brisk, reviving and thirst-quenching. And each is a hostess' delight, being simple and quick to make and glamorous to serve.

Take maple apple soda, for instance, a chilled froth of an apple drink, with a blob of ice cream topping it. Young folks, especially, will enjoy it:

HEALTH INSURANCE

As soon as you get home from a picnic, wash all the picnic dishes thoroughly in hot soap or detergent suds and rinses. And if yours is a portable grill, remove the part that holds the food for a good sudsy scrub. Prompt dish-washing is health insurance for your family.

has taken a 10-year check on the most popular annuals and has found some interesting facts. Six of the top 10 have held their position intact. Petunias, the all-time top, are followed by zinnias, marigolds, asters, sweet peas and snapdragons. Nasturtiums have disappeared from this year's list, while larkspur has moved from ninth to seventh place. Alyssum, with a boost from last year's All-American Bronze Medal winner, Pink Heather, has moved from tenth to eighth place. Two new flowers are on the list: phlox is now ninth and morning glory, tenth.

These top favorites all have a special contribution to make in creating a lovely garden.

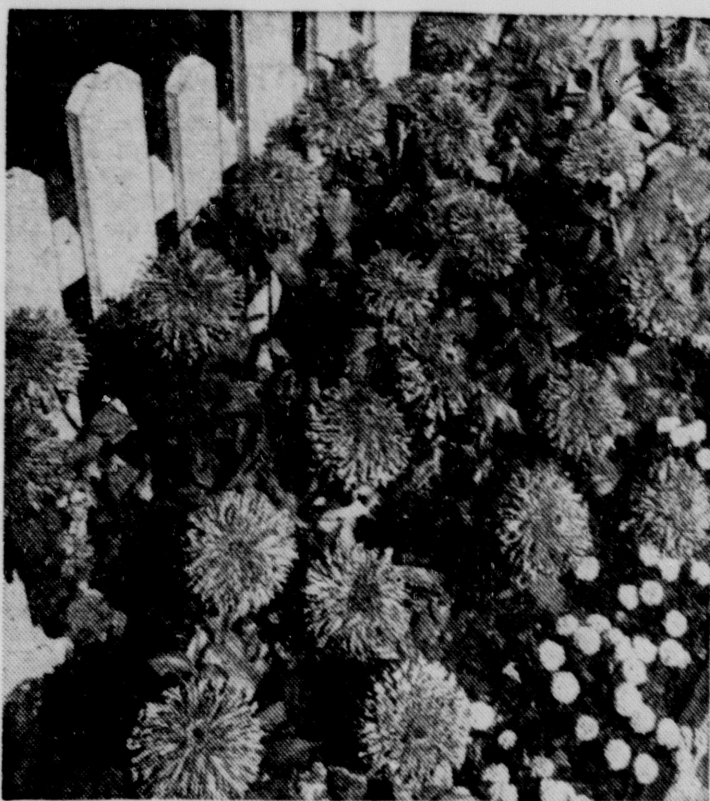

Petunias, the showiest of annuals, will give splashes of either soft, dainty or brilliant color in your garden, for the color range is from white through pinks, and reds to dark blues.

Zinnias and marigolds are just as bright-hued but more regal and straight-growing.

Asters, with their shaggy heads of pinks and lavenders are homey flowers and will nod their heads hello no matter where you put them in the garden.

Sweet peas, covering a fence, will give a charming lacy effect. Snapdragons and larkspur, will give needed height when planted against the wall of a foundation. The dainty purple, white or yellow of alyssum, makes a perfect edging for walks.

Phlox, brilliantly colored, blooms profusely all through the season and contributes to the general gaiety of the garden.

HAPPILY, in the gardening world, flowers don't need to worry about where they stand on the popularity list, for there isn't an annual grown that isn't the special delight and favorite of many gardeners.

Tenth on the list is not tenth in the gardener's heart, for morning glories are one of the most delightful flowers to bloom. They will climb up and provide a covering or any spot in the garden where you would like either seclusion or the disguising of an unsightly spot.

Gardeners Dress Right, Feel At Ease

Look chick while you prune the petunias. There's no need to wear an outfit out of the ragbag just because you're on your knees transplanting or cultivating your prize blooms.

Gardening clothes, still very much down to earth, if you'll pardon the pun, have gone high style. Durable denim frontier pants, for instance—long a favorite with female gardeners—are now neatly tapered, and are devoid of bulky pleats and cuffs.

Years ago this happy marriage of style and serviceability was unheard of. Clothes were either practical or attractive. Today's gardening outfits can double as leisure wear.

What to choose for this pleasant occupation is up to each individual gardener. Some like to be quite covered up in slacks and long-sleeved shirts, while others are confirmed Bermuda shorts fans.

No matter what your preference, there are certain basic requirements to be considered.

First is the outfit durable? Will it require little care other than machine-washing? Does it fit comfortably for action, or will it pull when you reach for a recalcitrant weed?

Shirts, whether worn with skirts, shorts or pants should have sleeves to protect you against scratches and insects.

An important thing to remember is that garden garb, like any heavy-duty clothing, needs a bit of prelaundering attention.

Loose dirt, dried mud and leaves should be brushed from clothing before it goes into the washing machine. Normal laundering in hot soap or detergent suds will banish most garden variety soil, and a bleach such as sodium perborate should remove the last traces of stubborn spots.

Badly soiled areas at knees, hems, elbows and cuffs should be "massaged" or brushed with thick soap or detergent suds before garments are laundered.

Though long hours in the garden seem like mere minutes to gardening enthusiasts, even zealous should take advantage of some aids to comfort. Kneepads are a great help, especially during early spring when the ground is still hard and cold.

Whether your garden comprises five acres or five feet, you'll enjoy it more if you're dressed comfortably and sensibly for your chores.

LAND LUGGERS

Lugging the outboard down to the boat can take a good deal of fun out of the day's boating. Try using an outboard carrying stand to wheel the motor from the cottage or the car right down to the water.

FIRST AID

Promptly scrub any and all skin areas that have been exposed to poison ivy with plenty of soap and water. Even if further treatment is needed, this prompt scrubbing will greatly lessen the irritation.

Vitamins Year 'Round Recommended

Despite a long-standing notion, a lot of sunshine does not make up for vitamin deficiencies. If you've been counting on the summer sun to pack your children with vitamins—forget it. The kids will manufacture a little bit of their own vitamin D, but in small quantities—and that's all. Sunlight won't do a thing to satisfy their other vitamin needs.

There is a widely held notion that vitamins, like antifreeze, are necessary only in winter, but studies of young people in Maine, Nebraska, Iowa, Montana, Illinois and New York show that vitamin "starvation" is a nationwide, year-round problem.

Vitamin problems for youngsters actually reach a peak in the summer months when their activity increases and they go in for light-as-a-feather diets. They'll probably be eating crisp, cool cool salads by the dozens—all inadequate nutritionally after a hard day of tennis or swimming. And they'll be swallowing cold drinks by the hundreds—all of which may "wash out" some of the water-soluble vitamins stored in the body.

According to the experts, the youngster who isn't getting a battery of the 10 basic vitamins required for sound nutrition is being badly short changed.

The growing youngster needs vitamin A for healthy skin and normal vision, B-1 for energy and B-12 to keep his nervous system in tone.

To get a child to take these and the other necessary vitamins separately would be a chore, to put it mildly. The easiest way to prevent summer vitamin "starvation" is to get him to take them all in one high potency, multivitamin capsule, like Zynacaps, which has the 10 vital vitamins built into one that satisfies daily needs.

The vitamin pill—a day habit is an easy one to get started, and it will keep the child on his toes during the active summer.

SHADE IDEA

Strip the material of an old lamp shade and recover the frame with white or unbleached muslin. Then use the shade to protect platters of food from dirt and insects when eating outdoors. Tacking the muslin to the frame is a quick and easy job—long basting stitches or overcasting will suffice at the bottom. Then, finish the top with a casing for a drawstring—so it can be removed for washing after use.

BETTER BOTTLES
To keep that picnic vacuum bottle sweet, fill with water as soon as it has been emptied and add a couple of teaspoons of baking soda. Let stand until a few hours have passed, then just rinse with fresh water and leave open. Don't forget to brush the cork with a little dry soda. Odors cling to corks.

COSMETICS, TOILETRIES

A separate kit or bag is the best insurance against stains from leaky containers. Buy travel-sized jars, tubes and bottle whenever possible, and keep them packed for emergency trips. Aluminum foil wraps provide maximum safety. Pack a few extra lengths for washcloths, shower caps or garments which have not dried.

KIT BOAT KEEPING

Kit boats styled for use with outboard motors come in practically every size and design, and are becoming increasingly popular each year. However, since they are almost all constructed with plywood planking, it is essential that a good grade of plywood sealer be used on all plywood surfaces.

You Can Build Backyard Pool

With backyard swimming pools no longer a luxury reserved for millionaires and movie stars, the swimming pool industry in the United States has mushroomed into a sprawling giant and a decided factor in the nation's economy.

With the emergence of glass fiber and vinyl liner pools, which are low in cost and easily installed even by a do-it-yourselfer, the pool market was opened to homeowners who had never dreamed of such luxury. Heavy traffic, crowded beaches and the growth of suburban living have added to the "back in your own back yard" school of thought in relaxation.

Industry sales are expected to reach the billion-dollar mark in 1960, forecasts Jerome Y. Rudolph, president of United States Pool Corporation.

In making his prediction, Mr. Rudolph, whose firm produces and markets the Gertrude Ederle Dive 'N' Swim Pools, cited various factors which are contributing to the growth of this industry.

With the growth of the business have come many technological advances. Pools have been rendered virtually maintenance-free by the use of new materials, such as vinyl and glass fibers and by the addition of antibacterials. Safety factors, such as separate wading area for children, low-voltage underwater lights and alarm system have also made back yard pools more desirable. Easy financing terms and the development of joint ownership plans for pools have also added to the growth figures.

FEELING WARM? Take a dip, right in your own backyard pool. Now more moderately priced than ever, you can have your own swimming pool in fiberglass or vinyl, and in your choice of many sizes and shapes.

Another incentive offered to pool owners is the growth of the pool maintenance business. These firms will, for an annual fee, care for residential pools winter and summer.

Most manufacturers offer a variety of pool types, including gunite, glass fiber, vinyl liners, concrete and cement blocks. Pool-Paks are available for the handy man, and a pool can be installed in less than a week, including flagstone walks and filtering systems.

More leisure time, more desire for relaxation and for keeping the children at home and the family together, a swimming pool costing about the same as a second car, is providing the happy answer to more and more American families.

Here's Tips to Stretch That Vacation Dollar

More than a million Americans will spend some 20 billion dollars on vacation travel alone this year. If you plan to be among their number, here are a few tips from bank experts on how to stretch your vacation dollars to take you farther.

1. START SAVING NOW. There is still time to build up a healthy vacation fund, especially if you don't plan to leave until fall. Figure out the cost of your vacation, divide by the number of paydays between now and the time you leave and you will know just how much money to put aside each week. Many banks today provide special-purpose savings accounts called Vacation Clubs and Travel Accounts. They work best in 50-week cycles. Thus, if you can't save enough money to make your trip this year, start saving now for 1961.

2. CONSIDER TRAVEL ON THE INSTALLMENT PLAN. If you have the money for your day-to-day vacation expenses but not enough funds to get you there and home. More and more airlines are offering fly-now-pay-later plans. So, find out what kind of installment plans there are. But don't take on more debt than you can safely handle. Bankers suggest as a rough rule-of-thumb that you never let your total debt exceed 20 per cent of take-home pay.

3. FINANCE YOUR ENTIRE TRIP WITH A SINGLE BANK LOAN. You may find it cheaper. Bank interest rates are usually lower than most other installment plans. And bank loans offer two unique advantages: You establish your credit at the bank as you pay off the loan; and you don't have to dig into your savings.

4. CARRY TRAVELER'S CHECKS INSTEAD OF CASH. One way to save money when on vacation is not to lose it. Traveler's checks are accepted as money in almost any part of the world. Only you can cash your own checks. If they are lost or stolen, you get your money back. You can buy traveler's checks at almost any bank and keep them for as long as you like, there is no time limit. The cost is usually about one per cent of the amount you buy, or, roughly, one dollar for every $100 worth of checks. A good idea is to figure out ahead how much money you plan to spend each day for incidentals. Then buy your traveler's checks in this denomination, and simply cash one check a day.

5. A LETTER OF CREDIT from your hometown bank is handy as a cash reserve. It supplements your supply of traveler's checks. Shopping for family and friends or a sudden decision

Motorists Should Check Cars For Safety Before Vacations

Now is the time of year when automobile owners drain the anti-freeze and head their vehicles toward the open road. But unfortunately many drivers permit their eagerness for action to overcome prudence in preparation.

There are two parts of every car, even new ones, that should be thoroughly checked before taking off on a trip, according to Lewis C. Davis, senior vice president of Rayco Manufacturing Co. He rates the muffler and the shock absorbers as potential danger parts.

Faulty mufflers not only make a noise nuisance of your vehicle and are the cause of lost engine power, but a defective muffler can discharge deadly carbon monoxide which can seep into your car. Davis' suggestion is to have your muffler checked periodically, even if replacement only results in better engine performance.

Shock absorbers are another potential danger point in Davis' experience.

Not only will worn shock absorbers give you an uncomfortable ride, they can actually cause you to lose control of your car on a rough road, through swerving or skidding. There are many instances on record where bad shock absorbers caused cars to turn turtle at higher speeds. Even if no serious accidents occur, worn shock absorbers are guaranteed to accelerate tire wear and harm auto springs.

Since both shock absorbers and mufflers can be replaced in a matter of minutes, and at small cost when necessary, it is good safety sense to drive in for a check-up at regular intervals.

Another precaution to follow is to have rear windows in convertible tops replaced whenever they become cracked or discolored. The best possible rear vision when driving on today's highways is a must for safe driving.

KEEP'EM BUSY

One way to amuse children bored on motor trips is to have them find the letters—in order—of the complete alphabet on signs, billboards, etc.

Blender Helps Prepare Those Summer Meals

Cold soups are a whole new wonderful way of delicious summer supping, and they seem doubly good when the hostess doesn't even have to cook.

With an electric blender, all she has to do is to drop the ingredients into the container and she has a first or main course—even a dessert course if it's a cool fruit soup—that takes only as long as the switching on and off of the blender.

If the soup is a traditional "first-course" and calls for simmered stock, even that is no problem. Wonders can be done with the simple addition of canned soups. Some soups, easily blended electrically with the Osterizer, are succulent and sufficient enough to constitute a full summertime main course.

AVOCADO SOUP—for 4

1 large avocado, cubed (1 cup), 1 cup heavy cream (well chilled), 2 cups well seasoned chicken stock (chilled), dill seeds or fresh dill, 2 tablespoons sherry, salt and freshly ground pepper to taste.

Blend the avocado and the cream until satiny smooth. Add the chicken stock until blended. Add seasoning and sherry and blend just until mixed. Pour into bowls and garnish with dill.

LOBSTER BUTTERMILK BISQUE—for 4

Two cups cooked or canned lobster meat, 1 cucumber, cubed, 1/2 bunch watercress, 1 spray fresh dill (optional), 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, 2 cups buttermilk, salt to taste, 1 teaspoon curry powder, 1/2 cup blanched, browned almonds.

Blend 1 cup fish meat, 1 cup of buttermilk and all other ingredients until chopped to fine particles. Do not allow to become pureed. Add second cup buttermilk and second cup of generously cut lobster meat. Stir into mixture. Serve in bowls which have been surrounded with chopped ice and top with blanched almonds which have been lightly browned in butter.

SLICK JOB

When repairing a break in a garden hose, first rub soap on the coupler unit or inside the hose opening. This lubrication makes the coupler slip into the hose more easily.

Can Your Wallet Pass Inspection?

When strangers meet and the conversational possibilities of the weather have been used up, it's almost inevitable that they will soon be showing each other a collection of photographs pulled from a billfold. Here are some simple suggestions to cover the situation:

Throw out those dogeared snapshots no longer clear enough to show the individuals and objects without explanations.

Get some new "picture windows" for the folders in your wallet have become blurred. A refill costs just pennies.

Try to arrange pictures so that they are all viewable from the same angle.

How's your wallet? Take out the useless stuffing—and get a new one if yours shows signs of weariness.

Never "pass around" your billfold to show photos in a crowd; you might get it back minus your currency!

Better yet, carry your rogue's gallery in a pass case that you can remove from your wallet.

MEALS outdoors are simple with a G.E. portable dishwasher. Just roll it out, filled with your dishes and set the table. Then let it do the after-meal chores for you.

This Mineral Made For Tricky Lawns

Lack of moisture, too much shade, or an uneven distribution of topsoil or seed are a few of the causes for bare patches in lawns—a headache for the homeowner.

Vermiculite, a sponge-like mineral with effective soil conditioning properties is helpful in this situation.

Spade up the caked soil of the bare spot, digging down as deep as two spade lengths. While you are turning over the soil, mix in a substantial portion of vermiculite, water the soil thoroughly, then seed and roll lightly. Finally cover the seeded area with a thin layer of vermiculite.

Of course, the bare spot will require a good deal of attention for the next few weeks and especially will need more moisture than the remainder of the lawn. A light sprinkling morning and evening will assure good germination.

The light vermiculite covering also acts as an insulator against sudden temperature change, as well as a ready source of moisture for the young seedlings. Vermiculite, made by the Zonolite Company of Chicago, is available at most garden supply outlets.

Growing Roses Can Be Fun

Rewards Are Great For Time You Actually Spend

If you're one of the 40 million gardeners across the country who grow roses, you know how much fun it can be. Actually, growing roses demands comparatively little from you in exchange for the rewards.

Planting roses requires a minimum of equipment—but it does demand some honest spadework.

The trick is to dig a hole wide enough and deep enough to accommodate the roots—with some space to spare all around.

If you have doubts about the quality of the soil in the planting area, combine the soil removed from the hole with some leaf mold, compost, or peat moss.

Treat the roots of your new rose bushes with care, cutting away those that are broken, and when you're ready to place the plant in the hole, cover the roots with loose soil and work the soil around the roots to get rid of air pockets.

Now fill the hole three-fourths full with soil, tamping it down firmly, and add water to fill up the remainder. When the water has soaked in, add the soil as necessary to level off the hole.

To keep your roses looking healthy and beautiful, feed them regularly every month until the hot weather sets in. Spread the rose food around each bush in a broad band, being sure to read the manufacturer's instructions before you start.

Most rose varieties are susceptible to attack by a host of bugs, blights and diseases.

These can be combated easily if you use regular, preventive treatments with one of the multipurpose rose pesticides.

The experts say that many of the pests that attack roses are invisible to the eye, so that you can't detect them until their damage is done.

ONE OF the essentials of a good rose-care program is cutting away deadwood on hybrid teas and floribundas. But experts advise that you wait until shade trees begin leafing out before you start pruning your rose bushes.

Preventive treatments, however, will keep them away before they start.

A handy squeeze duster, such as Antrol's Rose and Flower Dust is economical and easy to use for this purpose. Aerosol sprays, like Antrol's Rose Spray Flower Bomb, are recommended for spot control on plants that have already become infested.

And be sure to give your rose bushes plenty of water all season long.

HIGHWAY FUN

Avoid tedium on motor trips by leading your passengers in occasional songfests or by playing games such as license poker.

Gas Lamp In Yard Is Useful, Attractive

You can lend a "light touch" to your garden or front lawn with a traditional or contemporary gas-type lamp on a slender post. Besides being an attractive outdoor accessory, it provides enough light to enable your guests and family to make their way up your front walk and steps without stumbling.

Just be sure, though, that you don't permit rain spots and other outdoor grime to become encrusted on the glass panels surrounding the light. Wash the glass often with warm soap or detergent suds. Your lamp will glow with its greatest effectiveness—and you'll cut down on fuel bills, besides.

Light Tackle Tests Skill Of Fisherman, Pro Declares

Pan fish boring you? Small fry taking the sport out of fishing? Not so, says Richard C. Wolff, professional fisherman and outdoor author. It's the tackle that takes the "tickle" out of fishing.

Wolff, who makes a career out of fishing for fun and business as a vice president of the Garcia Corporation, says "new light tackle makes catching pan fish as sporting as a record trout and offers the thrill of a lifetime."

New ultralight, or as Wolff prefers to call it, "ultra-sports" tackle is no toy. It's rugged and designed for the sporting angler. Feather light rod and reel weigh under 10 ounces and combined with two or four-pound test line makes even the smallest trout or bass seem a "record" catch.

"With 30 million anglers competing for fish on our lakes and streams," says Dick Wolff, "the odds are longer that a big one is lurking around your lure. But there are lots of nice sized one-to-two-pounders ready to do battle against light tackle. Catch one and you'll talk like an expert."

New ultrasports tackle is generally in the six-to-eight-ounce category, and is designed for lures weighing one-sixteenth to one-fourth ounces. Line capacity of the ultra sports reels is eminently practical for any type of fishing. Wolff says that the new Mitchell 308 and most other spinning reels will handle some 300 feet of four-pound test, and more 4-pound test than the average angler will use in a year.

"One practical asset to look for in a light reel is an extra spool of limited capacity for lighter lines. It will provide you with handy means of making each fish a 'sporting' catch," he adds.

Easy handling is another advantage of ultra sports tackle. It makes a difference when you've been casting for three or four hours.

So anglers, take heart! Even pan fish can fight. It's all in the line you spin!

PICNIC CLEAN-UP

The old-fashioned wicker picnic basket has excellent advantages: it's airy, keeps food fresh, it's completely washable. Crumbs fall right through it but there may still be a smear or two that should be taken care of after the picnic. Case a sudsy brush or dish-mop on it right in the sink, scrubbing both inside and outside; rinse by running water through the basket. Close the cover while drying so the frame won't warp; air circulates through it anyway.

THE precision made reel is the answer to small catches. Puts the fight back in fishing for everyone.

Protect Yourself Against Poison Ivy

Hundreds of thousands of summer vacationers, according to public health authorities, manage to pick up a case of skin poisoning every year. The most common hazards are poison ivy and poison oak, and nobody should feel too secure in the thought of being immune from such poison plants.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture culture says very few persons have a sufficient degree of immunity to protect them from these two summer hazards. If you find you have been exposed to these plants, dash quickly for the soap. Wash all exposed areas immediately with plenty of soap lather, then rinse thoroughly. Finish off with rubbing alcohol.

Individual Grooming Kits Are Helpful on Vacations

"Getting away from it all" for an entire summer is the ideal way for a family to vacation together. But most families can spare only the weekends and an occasional week.

To make these short vacations easier, always have the toiletries ready for every member of the family. Use individual plastic zipper cases and match the color of the case with the items inside—such as comb, toothbrush and washcloth. Then there will be no arguments about what belongs to whom.

As a basis, each kit should contain a toothbrush, toothpaste, comb and washcloth. Then add other items according to the personal tastes and needs of each person.

For your own kit you will want to add cold cream, hand lotion, a small bottle of perfume, tissues and nail file, as well as a small jar of Mum cream deodorant to keep you dainty during hot and active days. Small bottles containing pills, clearly labeled, for headaches, colds and motion sickness, come in very handy when needed and take up very little room. A small sewing kit is useful for emergency repairs. Another extra is a tiny laundry kit complete with line and clothespins. For dad's kit, you'll want his razor, small tube of shaving cream, and a plastic bottle of after-shave lotion—as well as a cream deodorant and hair tonic.

FAMILY weekenders will be simpler if Mom packs each member's toiletries in a different colored individual kit.

Memorial Day Starts Season For Cooking Out

Picnics have been going on for centuries. And with new outdoor cooking equipment it seems every day is great for a cookout. However, in this country there is an unofficial kickoff day. It is Memorial Day.

Even oldtime picnickers need tips to make their eating parties less work and more fun. The base of picnic planning is a hamper... the food basket.

It can be anything from a box from the grocery store decorated with plastic gummed paper to give it a gay look, an old fashioned market basket or an expensive picnic hamper. It is not so much the container, but the efficiency with which it is packed that helps make the picnic a pleasure.

If your family and friends are always eager for a picnic, keep the box or hamper packed at all times with basic supplies. When someone suggests a picnic, there is no last-minute scramble for equipment. Some musts include paper cups, (both hot and cold drink cups), paper plates, napkins, bottle and can opener, salt and pepper shakers with the tops covered with gummed plastic tape, a container of sugar, plastic forks and spoons, a sharp knife and one or two thermos jugs for beverages.

If your family "cooks out," add matches in a metal container and some old papers for starting a fire, along with the utensils used for outdoor cooking and a large cooking fork and spoon.

Barbecue Tricks Make Tasty Dishes

Smoke signals are rising from coast to coast—from city terrace and outdoor patio—in numbers to date even an expert Indian. America has joyously adopted the barbecue, with full accessories, as cooking increasingly moves out where the sky is the ceiling and man wields the fork.

A sturdy sauce enhances flavor and tendizes less expensive cuts of meat when wine is one of the ingredients.

Here are some barbecue tricks assembled by the Taylor Wine Co. of Hammondsport, N.Y.:

All meats should be thawed at room temperature before grilling over hot coals; cuts cooking time.

Unmarinated meats will not stick to the grids of a hot grill if brushed first with oil.

For beef kabobs cooked rare, push foods closely together on skewer; for medium or well-done leave a little space between.

Hamburger or frankfurter buns heat well if several are placed in a clean coffee can at side of grill 10 minutes.

Lusty wine barbecue sauce may be mixed several days ahead and stored in screwtop jar in refrigerator.

LUSTY WINE BARBECUE SAUCE

One cup salad oil, 3 medium onions, grated; 1 clove garlic, crushed; 1 tablespoon salt, 1 teaspoon black pepper, 1 teaspoon paprika, 1 cup N.Y. State Burgundy.

Combine all ingredients; mix well. Place in covered jar, let stand at room temperature overnight. Stir vigorously just before using. Place less tender cuts of meat in marinade for an hour before cooking, turn occasionally. Heat remaining marinade and pass as sauce with meat. Happy choice for basting beef and fresh pork. Makes a generous pint.

WINTERIZE TOOLS

Garden tools won't winter well unless stored clean. Weed forks, trowels, shovels, and flower pots should be given an outdoor scrubbing in a pail of hot suds at the end of the growing season. Metal surfaces are also better for a rubbing with oil afterwards. Tools with handles should be hung on convenient all tool clamps to keep them out of reach of dampness. Scrub flower pots clean; rinse; let them drain; pile them neatly in stacks. They will be useful and inviting for the next spring's gardening.

Camping Trailer Is Instant Home

Camping will be more fun in 1960 than ever before. The federal government, with its long-range program for developing our national parks, plus the state developing programs, will provide more camping sites with all basic facilities. Better roads will make the sites more available. And the equipment for camping is becoming more luxurious.

You can take your whole family to the woods or mountain lakes and be ready for camping in a few minutes after arrival. Your car gets you there, and a modern, streamlined camping trailer is made ready in less than five minutes.

As conceived and developed by the Ward Mfg. Co. of Cincinnati, Ohio, the 1960 version of the Nimrod camper is five feet wide and eight feet long. Yet it opens to a room 11 feet wide. In this are two three-quarter beds with innerspring mattresses, a center aisle and storage space all protected from the weather by an Army duck top complete with nylon screens and rain flaps. This is supported by an aluminum framework.

The two beds comfortably sleep four adults and, in a pinch, the 20-square-foot aisle can be made up to sleep two children.

Storage space beneath the beds on both sides provides 50 cubic feet for food and sporting equipment. Even an outboard motor will fit.

No tools are needed to set up for camping, since everything either snaps into place or is easily pulled out. Jacks at each corner support the camper for steadiness. Once you're set up, there's nothing more to do than light a campfire, start your meal, and enjoy yourself.

When the time comes to return home, everything folds back into place. The camper is then only 40 inches high, which means you have full rear-view vision when driving. Roller bearing wheels together in comfort.

and leaf springs ease the pulling load.

To make your camping more comfortable, you can add a folding screened canopy. This attaches to the rear of the set-up camper for a 70-square-foot living room.

Begin now to make your family plans for camping with the thought of what you will achieve together in comfort.

Enjoy Music While Lolling On the Patio

One of the present day, man-made signs of warm weather is the outdoor high-fidelity loudspeaker. Backyards, patio apartment house terraces and tar roofs bristle with all manner of them as people and music move out of doors. Speakers, according to the Institute of High Fidelity Manufacturers, are the simplest means of bringing music outside with you—while you leave the rest of your stereophonic high fidelity system in the house.

In deciding what type of speakers you need, it is wise to examine your patio habits and the size of your recreation area. For example, the family centering the major part of its summer activities around its back yard, would do well to consider weatherproof speakers. This type is somewhat more expensive than others, but it has a metal shell protector providing two advantages—it allows you to leave it outside year-round and also acts as a sound projector.

For the family that cooks out occasionally and gets in a limited amount of hammock time, less expensive speakers are available. These can be mounted under the eaves of the house or on a covered porch or any other spot where they will get some protection against inclement weather. Another idea is to install them in weatherproof cabinets which you can buy or build yourself.

Placement of the speakers will depend upon the size of the recreation area, and where the family activities are centered.

Some people with large patios prefer to put their speakers 100 to 150 feet from the main area to give the illusion of greater space. Speakers can be operated either without losing appreciable as far as 200 feet from the amplifier.

For apartment dwellers with speakers are the simplest solution to bring music outside. Receptacles for plugging in the units can be installed on the terrace or roof.

Whatever method is used, it will be found that stereophonic high fidelity will add enjoyment to your outdoor activities.

Are You Up a Tree Over Dead Stumps?

Trees that die on the stump, not only mar the landscaping, but can also pose a threat to people passing by.

Dead trees are quick to decay, and may come toppling down during a heavy storm. E. J. Ledger field representative of the Davey Tree Expert Company, warns that removal may be an urgent matter.

The home owner may or may not have to bear the expense of taking down a dangerous street tree. That depends on local ordinance.

The best way to find out is to call the park commissioner or city forester. In any event, neither can keep constant watch on individual trees and will appreciate your effort on their behalf.

FROSTY WHIP

One pint vanilla ice cream, 1 quart chilled apple juice, ½ cup chopped maraschino cherries, dash nutmeg (optional).

Allow ice cream to stand at room temperature until rather soft. Put apple juice in blender or bowl, add ice cream. Beat until frothy, add cherries and mix. Pour into tall glasses. Top with dash of nutmeg, if desired. Makes 4-6 servings.

There are many other cool, delicious drinks that can be made with apple juice, and with a little concoct original recipes of your own.

Fence Around Patio Gives You Privacy

A handsome patio will give your house a new lease on life and your scheme of outdoor living a new dimension. Even a small, citybound area can be transformed into a restful and attractive spot with much ugliness and noise screened out.

One of the handiest materials for patio building is lumber. It is ideal for many construction projects.

You may want a fence for privacy, a windbreak to cut out heavy winds but let breezes through, a sun screen to deflect the direct rays of the sun, or perhaps, a wood deck to add interest to your overall design.

Lumber will do what you want it to, and some of the species of wood which are easiest to work are those that grow in the western pine region. They are readily available and with a good pentachlorophenol type preservative they will give years of satisfactory outdoor service.

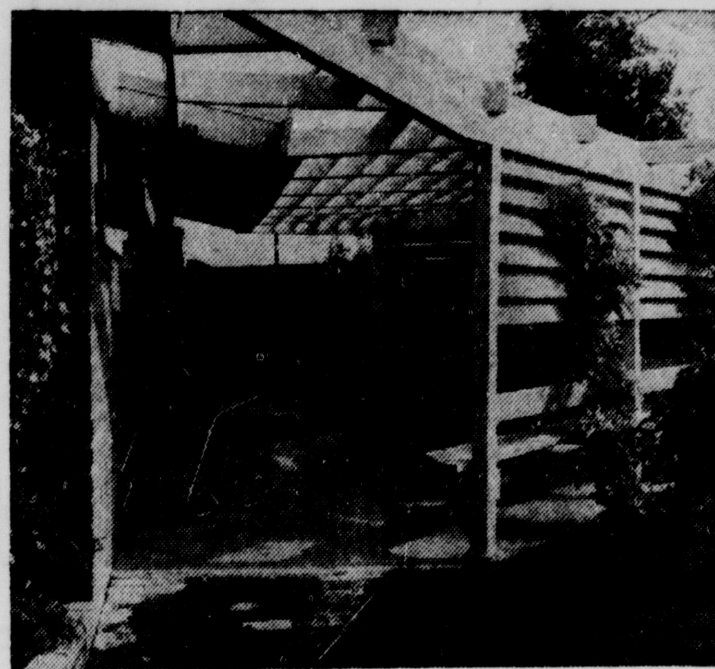

The fence is a basic need in most patios, and homeowners are branching out and doing more and more interesting things in the way of design.

For example, those who want privacy, but don't want to shut off breezes, are building fences in stationary-louvered patterns. Others are constructing "front-and-back" fences, where the planks are mounted alternately on one side of the framework and then the other. These two types of fence are ideal when neighbors share the cost, because one side is as handsome as the other. Inland red cedar or incense cedar are good to use for this type fence, because of their color.

Sun screens can add distinction, too. A screen may be done in a simple "egg crate" design. This is trim and good looking, and the sun coming through it will cast interesting shadows on the flooring below.

This flooring might well be a deck. Two-by-fours set on their narrow sides are effective and sturdy if mounted on a solid frame. Place them close enough together so that chair and table legs won't slip through, and be sure to apply preservative and stain before you start construction. Any of the western pine region species will take beautifully to stains or paint so you might check your lumber dealer to see what he has on hand.

Be your patio large or small, elaborate or simple, it will give you an outdoor living room for family entertaining.

ELABORATE or simple, a patio will give you an outdoor living room for summer entertaining. A sun screen of western pine, constructed in a simple egg-crate design will add both comfort and distinction to the patio.

Sun Is Foe

Bathers and Boaters Warned to Take Precautions

Feminine boaters need not "make like an ostrich" but a weekend afloat is likely to turn into a "red Monday" if some precaution is not taken for prevention of burns by sun and wind.

The woman who has been boating for years will know that the elements are far more intense when on the water. She will know that her skin must be protected if it is to retain its beauty.

The Evirude Boating Foundation reminds all boaters that they should be wary of sun and wind—men as well as women. Warm days, scanty attire is...

When out on the water on warm days, scanty attire is the rule, and that is when you need protection.

The manner in which people react to exposure varies. Medical men say that blondes, redheads and young children are especially susceptible. The most likely places for painful sunburn to occur are the backs of the knees, the nose, eyes, forehead, and if a bare midriff costume is worn, the abdomen.

It is wise to be aware that the sun's rays are more intense on water because you get the direct rays plus reflection from the surface of the water.

So when you go out on the water for the first few times during the season, it is best to take the sun in small doses. If you are liable to sunburn and know it, apply your favorite sunburn lotion to screen out the sun's rays.

Protection of the lips is one thing that many people forget. Lips can become painfully sunburned. Most women escape this kind of burn because lipstick is protection against it.

If the hair is not covered while on the water, it can become bleached and dry. There is a simple — and obvious preventive — wear a head covering. All kinds of boating caps are available. Many women, however, prefer to use scarves or bandanas, for they not only protect the hair, but keep it out of the eyes, too.

It is wise to wear dark glasses when boating on a bright day. Squinting over a sparkling lake bathed in sunlight can become distressing after a short period, and headaches often result. Dark glasses will help protect the eyes from the brightness of the sun.

Heed these hints, and you'll enjoy your outing!

DON'T FORGET

Are you about to pack a rucksack for a hike through the fragrant countryside? If you plan to stop for a savory meal cooked on an open fire, be sure to tote a bar of soap and damp washcloths wrapped in plastic. Then you can wash hands before eating—and also wash sooty hands and greasy faces before starting homeward.

'Tube Kit' In Cars Proves Invaluable

The call of the open spaces is apt to come upon you suddenly and many times little but important items will be forgotten in the rush to pack and get going.

There's one way to make sure you have such important, though small, items with you, by keeping your car equipped at all times with a "tube kit."

The kit should contain such items as toothpaste, sunburn lotion, antiseptics, face and hair creams to offset the drying effects of sun and wind, and adhesives for quick mending of your outfitting gear.

Another handy item is a metal tube of jelly-like fire lighter. Not only will it get charcoal fires off to a fast start, but it can come in handy if your car breaks down. A small glob of it provides enough illumination to change a tire, or to warn an approaching motorist. In itself, it presents no fire hazard.

PHOTO PROTECTION

How many families get around to putting those favorite snapshots in albums? Until you can persuade the youngsters it is a good rainy day job, protect the photos with clear plastic household wrap.

Pack Plenty of Grub When You Take That Bicycle Picnic

Too old for dolls? Too young again—and the whole "soda fountain" drive? Why don't you suggest a bicycle picnic to your restless teen-agers who are in the mood for action?

A bicycle picnic should be planned carefully to satisfy hunger and thirst, to provide quick energy and to fit into a small package. Soup, a sandwich with a high-protein filling, a hard-boiled egg, fruit, cookies can be packed into a deceptively small space. Tomato and beef broth cubes, frozen and packed in a lidded paper container, make a nutritious luncheon supplement when used in a menu with hearty peanut butter combination sandwiches like Goober Buns. Peanut butter is one of the favorite foods of American youngsters, and is loaded with B vitamins and proteins.

For drinks, en route, pack a handful of those foil-wrapped instant sparkling drink tablets that make wonderful fizzy soda pop just by dropping them into water. The adventurers can drink one to five fruit flavors or root beer and the new hula punch or cola pop all the way and back again—and the whole "soda fountain" drive? Why don't you suggest a bicycle picnic to your restless teen-agers who are in the mood for action?

There's no trouble to prepare a bicycle picnic—the kids will enjoy doing it themselves. Here's how to make the Goober Buns: One-half cup peanut butter, one-half pound chopped cooked meat, (pork or beef), two tablespoons chili sauce, one-half teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, one teaspoon onion salt, two tablespoons mayonnaise, six tablespoons soft butter or margarine, six frankfurter buns or hard rolls, split.

Mix peanut butter with meat, chili sauce seasonings and mayonnaise. Spread butter over buns. Divide filling evenly between buns. Wrap in plastic wrap.

Soup cubes defrost while the cyclist is peddling along. Simply mix one 10½-ounce can of condensed beef broth with one-half cup water, one 12-ounce can of tomato juice and one teaspoon lemon juice. Pour into freezer tray and freeze several hours. Put frozen cubes into pint, lidded paper containers. Makes two servings.

IR BOARDING HOUSE

Varied Diversions Call for Outdoors

When you see that black smoke rising "down the road a piece," don't be alarmed. More than likely it's Pop trying his hand at the first "charcoal-burned" steak of the season!

For at the first whiff of spring, the kitchen range bows gracefully to the outdoor grill, and enters semiretirement until the end of summer.

And why not Summertime is playtime, and nothing can beat an outdoor grill or barbeque pit for transforming the chore of cooking into fun and games. Mom, especially "has it made." For as soon as the great outdoors becomes the family kitchen, Dad is convinced that only HE knows how to cook!

Summer is travel time, too. With the children out of school, and good weather in the offing, it is estimated that over a million Americans will spend some 20 billion dollars on vacation travel in 1960.

Even lack of funds is not the obstacle to vacation travel that it once was. More and more airlines are offering fly-no-pay-late plans. But be sure you don't permit your total debt to exceed 20 per cent of your annual take home pay, bankers suggest.

And when the vacation is over and the work week again intrudes, there are still the summer evenings and the fair-weather weekends for swimming, boating, fishing and a variety of other sports which can include the entire family.

Boating is becoming increasingly popular as a family pastime in the U.S. According to the president of one of the nation's largest boat builders, his firm topped all previous sales years in 1959 with a dollar volume of approximately 15 million dollars on the sale of some 6,000 inboard and outboard boats.

Even fishing isn't Dad's solitary pleasure anymore. Mom's got her line right in there, too. Nearly five million women are enthusiastic anglers.

With the introduction of ne ultralight tackle, the thrill of the catch has been greatly increased.

lion Americans will spend some 20 billion dollars on vacation travel in 1960.

Even lack of funds is not the obstacle to vacation travel that it once was. More and more airlines are offering fly-no-pay-late plans. But be sure you don't permit your total debt to exceed 20 per cent of your annual take home pay, bankers suggest.

And when the vacation is over and the work week again intrudes, there are still the summer evenings and the fair-weather weekends for swimming, boating, fishing and a variety of other sports which can include the entire family.

Boating is becoming increasingly popular as a family pastime in the U.S. According to the president of one of the nation's largest boat builders, his firm topped all previous sales years in 1959 with a dollar volume of approximately 15 million dollars on the sale of some 6,000 inboard and outboard boats.

Even fishing isn't Dad's solitary pleasure anymore. Mom's got her line right in there, too. Nearly five million women are enthusiastic anglers.

With the introduction of ne ultralight tackle, the thrill of the catch has been greatly increased.

First anglers to try it report that even the little ones feel big on ultralight rod, reel and line.

And what would a summer weekend be without a cool dip, whether it be in the briny deep or your own backyard pool?

It's no longer a sign that you've bumped into millionaire's now when you drive by a home complete with swimming pool and gaily colored poolside chairs and tables.

Children splashing in their own backyard pools are fast becoming frequent sights throughout the country, now that home pools can be had for approximately the price of a new car—and even less for the handy do-it-yourselfers. Sales in the swimming pool industry in the U.S. are expected to reach the billion dollar mark this year.

Outdoor living has come into its own, and families all over the nation are looking forward to another happy season with their fishing poles, small craft, swimming pools and patio dining.

The "mantalk on the commuter train is more apt to concern a new barbecue sauce or fancy recipe for a cooling drink, than business and the stock market. The perfect summer picture—work!

Comes the warm weather, and Mom and Pop must get busy rejuvenating the outdoor furniture. Gardens must be planted and cared for, and there's that perennial bugaboo—the lawn!

But don't let it get you down. Manufacturers all over the country are getting the sting out of getting the patio back into shape, and licking the crab grass problem.

Spray paints have taken the backache out of perking up the tables and chairs. Water can be brought inexpensively right into your garden, and many of the new power mowers can make caring for the lawn a downright pleasure.

For the home owner who'd like to turn over the mowing chore to his wife, the rider mower is the answer. Mom can ride merrily around, cutting away, and at the same time pulling seeder, rollers, aerators, spreaders, utility wagons and reel mowers along with her—in case she spits a little spit that needs fixin. And the man of the house can relax in the hammock, with a tall, iced glass and watch, feeling sure he's putting her to no undue strain.

If figures don't lie, Dad's wise to the trick, too. More than 10 per cent of the estimated 4,200,000 power lawn mowers sold in the United States in 1959 were of the rider type.

Well, it's no more than fair—just a switch of occupations. For doesn't Pop don the chef's hat, come barbecue time?

Use Your Head, Guard Your Feet

Two of the most important things you take along on any vacation are your feet. Keep them comfortable.

It's important that you take with you shoes that fit properly. To keep your feet fresh on the trip, use a shoe refresher. It will also keep your shoes free from odor, according to Esquire Boot Polish Laboratory.

The refresher is easy to apply as it's an aerosol product. It can be used directly on the feet as well as inside the shoe.

Comfortable feet can make the difference between an enjoyable vacation and a miserable experience.

TIP FOR BIKESTERS

Amateur bike enthusiasts might borrow a handy idea from professional bike riders. They often use shellac to secure tires to rims. In a recent six-day bike race a large quantity of shellac was used for this purpose.
